Primary Today

Two Strong Political Factions Seek Control of State
400,000 AT POLLS
Crump and Browning
Machines Seeking
Supremacy

Nashville, Tenn.—(U)—Tennessee voters marked ballots today for a United States senator, governor, and public utilities commissioner in a Democratic primary devoid of outstanding political issues, but important as a testing ground for two powerful political factions.

Interest aroused in the fight between National Democratic Committee E. H. Crump of Memphis and Governor Gordon Browning for supremacy within the states caused observers to forecast a record vote of around 400,000.

Crump is head of the Shelby county (Memphis) organization. Browning is seeking renomination. Crump backed Browning two years ago, thus giving him approximately 50,000 votes but this year threw his support to Prentice Cooper of Shelbyville for the governorship.

Browning charged efforts would be made "to steal the election" in Memphis, and only this week abandoned plans to send national guardsmen there.

Berry backs Browning. Aligned with Browning is Senator George L. Berry, seeking nomination to succeed himself, and W. H. Turner, incumbent public utilities commissioner, while Crump is supporting Cooper for governor, A. Tom Stewart, Winchester attorney, for senator, and W. H. Hudson of Clarksville for utilities commissioner.

Three other candidates are running for the senatorial nomination. Representative J. Ridley Mitchell of the Fourth district, designated as a non-factionalist; Dr. John R. Neal, Knoxville attorney, and C. L. Powell, a farmer of Sumner county.

J. Bailey Wray of Knoxville is listed as gubernatorial candidate, but made no campaign, and Roy C. Wallace, another candidate, withdrew last night.

Berry's Program. Joe E. Scott of Columbia is in the race for utilities commissioner, also. Berry's platform includes planks against federal competition with private business and for distribution of TVA power. He denied a break with President Roosevelt.

Stewart is running on a platform fully endorsing Roosevelt policies. All the state's nine representatives in congress are seeking renomination except Mitchell, who is trying for the senate.

Among those seeking nomination to congress is Joe W. Byrnes, Jr., son of the late speaker of the house, opposing Representative Richard M. Atkinson of the Fifth district.

Roosevelt Facing
Defeat if He Runs
Again, Burke Says

Washington—(U)—Senator Burke (D-Nebr.) asserted today President Roosevelt would be defeated if he sought a third term.

A foe of the president's third reorganization plan, Burke told reporters he did not think any man could succeed in such an effort.

"The president," he added, "probably could come as close as anybody but he would be defeated. I personally would oppose anyone seeking a third term under any circumstances."

Asked what he thought would happen if the president sought a third term, Burke commented:

"It would split the Democratic party into a thousand pieces. It would break it asunder."

The Nebraskan said he would reintroduce in congress his constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years.

Escaped Prisoner
From N. Carolina
Won't be Returned

Madison—(U)—Lee Hodge, 26, who escaped from a North Carolina prison after serving eight years for theft of property which a report showed was valued at $20 had the assurance of Governor LaFollette today that he may remain in Wisconsin.

The chief executive, who said his conscience was touched by the young man's "frankness of repentance" formally notified Governor Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina he would not sign papers for Hodge's return.

Hodge was arrested while working on a farm near Loyal, Wis., and was jailed at Neillsville. In a letter to Governor LaFollette he said he escaped from prison May 29 and was "making an honest living when captured." He had been sentenced in 1930 to three to ten years for box car larceny and three to five years for store breaking. Hodge claimed he was innocent of the latter charge and had completed his term on the other when he escaped.

After investigation, Governor LaFollette wrote Governor Hoey on July 19 recommending that Hodge be permitted to remain here under parole to the state or that the request for his removal be withdrawn. Failing to receive a reply, he denied extradition.

Iowa Guardsmen on Hand at Reopening of Maytag Plant
Under Martial Law Order

REOPENS PLANT

Operations were resumed at noon today at the Maytag plant at Newton, Iowa, under martial law, in accordance with orders from Governor Nelson G. Kraschel (above).

CIO union members joined the back-to-work movement.

Newton, Iowa—(U)—Fourteen hundred employees of the Maytag factory employees returned to work in single file through lines of helmeted national guardsmen today after the Maytag CIO union local voted to capitulate under protest to Governor Nelson G. Kraschel's order opening the plant under martial law.

Shortly before 1 o'clock, one hundred union members entered the plant in single file between steel-helmeted national guardsmen, joining a similar number of back-to-work workers who had entered previously.

Shortly afterwards a continuous stream of men poured into both entrances of the plant. A. H. Taylor, factory superintendent, said the wheels of the big washing machine factory would begin turning as soon as the men could get organized at their jobs.

Newton, Iowa—(U)—Fourteen hundred employees of the Maytag company were moving in two directions this morning—one group toward the plant for the scheduled reopening at noon and the other toward a school for a CIO union rally to vote on the reopening proposal.

Meanwhile 250 additional national guardsmen arrived on the strike scene to be on hand when the washing machine factory is reopened under martial law, in accordance with orders from Governor Nelson G. Kraschel.

Military officials said the additional guardsmen were moved in today to replace guardsmen assigned to attend a camp next week and that the present force of nearly 500 was an "overlapping" of the two groups.

John Connolly, union attorney, said today he believed the union men would agree to go back to work "under this military coercion" without any waiver of their rights. However, the final decision rests with the men at their meeting this morning, Connolly said.

Employees Divided. Employees of the plant are divided on the basis of about 600 back-to-work advocates and 800 others, most of whom were expected to attend the union meeting.

In Des Moines, meanwhile, the national labor relations board hearing into charges of unfair labor practices, brought against the company by the union, was resumed, with several Jasper county officials on the list of subpoenaed witnesses.

Around the factory, the number of sentry posts was increased and strength of reserves was augmented.

Loses Control of
Car: Seven Hurt

Errand Boy's Machine
Plows Into Group Waiting for Street Car

Chicago—(U)—Seven persons were injured today when Irving Beausjour, 20, an errand boy, driving an automobile for the first time, lost control and plowed through a group of people waiting for a street car on the southwest side.

In addition he wrecked a news stand and damaged the front of a liquor store before the car stopped. Beausjour, unscathed, was taken to a police station. The injured were rushed to St. Anthony's hospital.

Beausjour said he had been asked by a friend to take his car, an open touring car, to a friend's home and go on an errand. He got along all right for several blocks, but he became confused when he reached a busy intersection.

Coleman Man Killed in Hit-and-Run Accident

Marquette—(U)—Wilbur Combs, 61, of Coleman, died in a hospital here today of injuries suffered when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver last night at Coleman. Undersheriff Edward O'Hearon said a Coleman garage mechanic had admitted driving the car which struck Combs but that no investigation had been pending an investigation. O'Hearon said Robert Thompson said the driver told him he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car, knew he hit something but was too excited to stop.

New York Expects to Top Crowd and Noise Records When Corrigan Quits
Liner Today on Return From Ireland

New York—(U)—The big town was ready today to give Douglas Corrigan, a hero by virtue of the most colossal navigation mistake since Columbus sailed for India and discovered America, a reception calculated to top all noise and attendance records.

"It's going to be the greatest welcome New York has given any visitor since Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh came home 11 years ago," was the expansive boast of James McGurkin, chairman of the mayor's reception committee.

After considerable squabbling, a truce was declared last night between competing Manhattan and Brooklyn reception committees. Daring Douglas will get his Broadway ticker tape shower and city hall ceremony and luncheon with

Weatherman Errs:
No Rain, Just as
Hot as Yesterday

90-Degree Weather Stays:
42 Barrels of Beer Lost
At New London

The weatherman has his head in his hands today and told those around him that he wanted to be alone with his woes.

After predicting rain last night and "much cooler" today, he was the target of wisecracks. It didn't rain last night. And today, except for a pleasant breeze, was just about as warm as yesterday.

At 12:30 this afternoon, the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent registered 90 degrees.

The year's heat record was smashed in the city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the mercury hauled up even with the 92-degree level. Last night was cooler, however.

Fair tonight and tomorrow, with continued warm weather, is the forecast for Appleton and vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

Beer is Lost. New London residents who like beer in hot weather were shaking their heads sorrowfully today over a tragedy that occurred Tuesday night at the Knappston brewery.

Forty-two barrels of beer trickled into the sewer at the brewery when the glass gauge on a government tank broke.

The tank, once used as a measuring device for federal inspectors, held 50 barrels and there were only eight left when Elmer Gross the cellerman, discovered what was happening. The loss was estimated at $250.

Sleep will not be hindered by heat tonight, the weatherman indicated today in his report. With darkness, temperatures will lower, but tomorrow is due to be sizzling again.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 104, and Yellowstone, with 42, were the hottest and coldest places respectively in the nation yesterday.

MORE HOT WEATHER. Milwaukee—(U)—More hot weather is in store for the state.

Rain predicted for last night reached only into northern Wisconsin. Wausau reporting a fall of .01 of an inch. Duluth, Minn., had .02.

The temperature was rising again today in Milwaukee, reaching 84 at 10 a. m., three degrees cooler than at the same time yesterday.

While Milwaukee reported a maximum of 93 yesterday and Green Bay and Madison had 92, Two Rivers had 94.

Japs Take Chinese
Soldiers Out of British Hospital

Hongchow, China—(U)—Japanese troops posted machine-gun guards around the British-operated Church Missionary Society hospital today and removed 103 wounded Chinese soldiers, under treatment since Japanese occupation of the city on Christmas eve.

The hospital reported to the British embassy, charging non-recognition of the British flag and a violation of a written agreement providing that approximately 200 wounded should remain in the hospital for the duration of the war.

The Japanese marched into the hospital and tried for six hours to induce Dr. Stephen D. Stuart, superintendent, to give them written permission to remove the soldiers. Failing in this, the 103 soldiers who were presumed to have been recovered from their wounds were taken by trucks to an unspecified destination.

Eighty wounded, most of them either without arms or without legs, remained in the hospital.

Judge's Action in Oil Case Hit and Defended in Court

Government Counsel Denies Right to Grant Motions for Acquittal

Madison—(U)—Arguments challenging and defending the procedure under which Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone freed one oil corporation and ten individuals after a jury had convicted them on a gasoline price-fixing charge were heard by Judge Stone today.

Government counsel contended the judge had no authority to grant motions for acquittal after the jury declared the defendants guilty. Defense counsel maintained it was his "inherent right" to act as he did.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, representing the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, one of those freed, opened defense arguments after assistant Attorney General John Henry Lewin of Washington, D. C., and William P. Crawford of Superior, special government counsel, urged Judge Stone to nullify part of the decision he announced on July 19.

The jury had found 16 major oil concerns and 30 executives guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust act through a conspiracy to fix prices. Judge Stone upheld the verdict only as to 12 corporations and five individuals, fining them a total of $65,000, in addition to dismissing one company and ten individuals he granted new trials for the remainder of the defendants. The government objected to that portion of the court's decision granting outright acquittals.

Viereck Decides to Remain to Testify
At Congress Quiz

New York—(U)—Reconsidering his announced intention of ignoring a subpoena and sailing for Germany, George Sylvester Viereck, 33, author and publicist, said today he would remain and testify at Washington on Aug. 18 before a congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

The subpoena, obtained by Representative Martin Dies (D-Texas), chairman of the committee, was served on Viereck yesterday a few hours before he was scheduled to sail on the liner Hansa.

Viereck at first announced he would ignore the subpoena until his return Oct. 13.

Dies' assertion that he was going abroad to confer with Adolf Hitler, Viereck said his purpose was to interview the former German Kaiser at Doorn and other European personalities.

Before a congressional committee investigating Nazi propaganda in 1934, Viereck testified he was receiving $1,750 a month through the New York publicity firm, Carl Byoir and Associates, by a contract with the German ministry of propaganda to attract American tourists to Germany.

Three Persons Perish
In Mystery Farm Fire

Minneapolis, Minn.—(U)—Three persons were burned to death at the Walter Hopkins farm early today in a mysterious blaze that sent authorities seeking a stranger seen yesterday who apparently vanished in the family automobile.

Inside the charred ruins this morning were found the bodies of Walter Hopkins, his wife and their 16-year-old son. Sheriff Rykema said indications were the blaze had started just before midnight.

The car was found early today wrecked and abandoned 20 miles east of here.

Cleveland Mayor Wants Division Of Relief Burden

Would Have Federal and Local Governments Share Costs

Chicago—Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland advocated a division of the relief burden between the federal and local governments before the Republican program committee today.

Under his plan, the federal government would provide work relief for the "unemployed employables" and the local governments would establish permanent programs for the needy element.

The "relief chiselers"—able but unwilling to labor—would be left intentionally "in the mud." He estimated they represented between 5 and 15 per cent of the assistance load.

"The solution of the relief problems lies in action toward industrial recovery," Mayor Burton said.

Could Cut Activities

As the scope of recovery increased, he added, the federal government could cut down on its relief activities.

He regarded work relief as an important means of maintaining the skill and "habit of work" of persons temporarily out of employment.

The number of relief in Cleveland dropped to 90,000 last October, he said, but since then had increased to 200,000. It was necessary to provide relief work for the 110,000 persons who were added to the list during that period, he pointed out, so they would be prepared, mentally and physically, to return to private industry.

The mayor reported the policy he supported was originated by the United States Conference of Mayors. He outlined his views to reporters before presenting them to the committee in a closed session.

Meanwhile, the program drafters appraised "racket-busting" as a national issue.

Assaults Rackets

Francis E. Rivers, assistant district attorney of New York county, told the group at an open forum last night that "the racket is in a real sense a political question."

"Corrupt politics nurtures rackets," he said, "and enlightened politics destroys rackets."

"Parties controlling our national, state and local governments must have that fidelity to the highest public good which makes them attack and destroy that menacing alliance of rackets and politics," he said.

Another speaker last night was Jan N. "Dix" Dahlen, president of the National Wild Life Federation and former chief of the United States Biological Survey.

He said "at least 3,000,000 men now on the unemployed list could be rehabilitated at permanent, healthful and profitable employment if the abandoned farms, whose soil is exhausted, the dust bowl, the forests and the commercial fishing resources were back where they were in 1900."

New York Is Ready To Cheer Corrigan

Cool and the Great Cuchulain, grinned with pleasure today as he stood at the rail of this New York-bound liner and looked forward to the welcome awaiting him.

The ship moved at half-speed through fog. Corrigan was in a fog, too, or at least he said he was as he remembered all that has happened to him in the month past—the flight in the old crate from California to New York, the takeoff for home, and his surprise at finding himself in Dublin, of all places.

He knew, of course, what awaited him in New York, for he had got more than a dim idea of New York's frenzied greetings a couple of days before he started his wild trans-Atlantic flight, when the city went a little batty about Howard Hughes and his four world-circling companions.

A month ago, Corrigan was remembering he was just another flier with an airplane that moved one and all to wisecracks. Few had heard of him. Today he was the most talked of flier and to him had come offers to make all kinds of money he had never dreamed of making—offers to endorse commercial products such as tooth paste and cigars, appear in night clubs or in front of movie cameras.

"But I can't sing and I can't dance," Corrigan grinned. "So I guess I'll stay in aviation."

Appleton Gets $12,128 From Beverages Taxes

Post-Crescent Machine Bureau

Madison—State treasury officials today were busy writing drafts payable to town, village and city treasurers representing the distribution of $14,697,576 in state beverage tax receipts for the first six months of this year.

According to the beverage tax monies revert to municipal treasurers for the purpose of reducing the local general tax load. Apportionment is on the basis of population, according to Arthur Pugh, assistant state treasurer and administrator of the beverage tax division.

According to treasury figures the city of Appleton will receive $12,128 for the first six months of 1938, while the total current distribution to all the local governments in Outagamie county is $29,555.

Figures for the municipalities in the county follow: Appleton $12,128; Bear Creek $197; Black Creek $404; Bovins $274; Buchanan $229; Center $562; Cicero $527; Combined Locks $261; Dale $547; Deer Creek $4,650.

Streets involved include: E. South street, N. Durkee street from Brewster street to Roosevelt street; N. Bateman street from Pacific street to Hancock street; E. Winnebago street from Morrison street to Drew street; Parkway boulevard from Appleton street to Alvin street; W. Winnebago street from Appleton street to Oneida street.

N. Tanager street, E. Franklin street from Rankin street to Catherine street; E. Hancock street from Maude street to Rankin street; W. Spring street from Appleton street to Superior street; Fifth street from Story street to Mueller street; S. Memorial drive from Bridge street to city limits; E. Winnebago street from Morrison street to Drew street; and W. Harris street from Richmond street to Badger avenue.

Most Members of Congress Win in Primary Battles

All but One of Senators Renominated in Contests Held Thus Far

Washington—The figures for about half the primary elections show all but one of the senators and most of the representatives who have asked their party's endorsement for another term have obtained it.

Tennessee, picking candidates today for one senatorial and nine house seats, is the twentieth state to hold primaries. In the 19 states that have chosen candidates for the November balloting, 13 senate and 190 house seats were at stake.

Herbert E. Hitchcock, South Dakota Democrat, was the only senator who asked for renomination and failed to get it. Two other Democratic senators, Dietrich of Illinois and Reames of Oregon, did not ask to come back to Washington. The 10 other senators were renominated.

Of the 190 house seats subjected to the scrutiny of the voters, 169 representatives have won party approval for two more years. Two seats were vacant when the primaries were held.

12 Not in Contests

Twelve of the 19 representatives who have not been renominated did not ask for another term. Some voluntarily retired from congress, and others sought senate nominations.

Six of the representatives who did ask renomination were defeated in the primaries. They were two Texans, one from Illinois, one from Virginia, and two from Pennsylvania. Another Texan still faces a run-off primary.

All those beaten, either for the house or in the senate, were Democrats. In most cases political students say local conditions as much as anything else contributed to their defeat.

New Republican incumbent has failed of renomination to either a house or senate seat. But only two Republican senate seats have been involved so far—those of Davis in Pennsylvania and Nye in North Dakota.

Only one Republican is among the group of house members who did not run for renomination. Representative Thurston of Iowa tried to get the senatorial nomination in his state. He was beaten by the silver-haired L. J. Dickinson, former senator.

LaFollette Pays Fine For Illegal Parking

Madison—(U)—This is chapter three in the story of who got the ticket for illegal parking of a state car in front of the governor's mansion Tuesday night.

The ticket reports first traced the car to Governor LaFollette. Then the department said the license had been issued to Adjutant General Ralph M. Innell.

Today Governor LaFollette paid the $1 fine.

Woman Given Divorce From Seymour Resident

Madison—Marcks, 32, Appleton, the divorce was granted a divorce from Raymond Marcks, 23, Seymour, by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court. She charged cruelty and inhuman treatment. The couple married at Appleton Oct. 6, 1937 and separated last month.

FACES TRIAL FOR MURDER

John W. Deering, 39, right, will be returned to Utah by Salt Lake City detectives where he will face a murder charge in the holdup killing of Oliver R. Meredith, Jr., wealthy merchant, last May. Detectives said they questioned Deering about the torture murder of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, Berkeley, Cal., socialites whose bodies were found in the Texas badlands last spring, but Deering established that he committed a holdup in Detroit at the approximate time of the Frome murders. Detective James Maher is questioning Deering.

bogast, 1015 W. Spencer street, who received from three to five votes on each ballot. The final ballot gave Smith six votes, Arbogast, three, Crowe, two, and H. H. Johnson, 308 W. Commercial street, one. Twenty-five men applied for the job.

After several hours of balloting, Alderman Steinhauer jumped to his feet and said: "I think it is a shame to make us sit here all night like this. Why don't we settle this thing. You ought to have nerve enough to vote for the man you want and stop this fooling around."

Alderman Vanderheyden came back with: "If you don't like it, why don't you go home."

On the vote to adjourn, Alderman Brautigan, Franke, Harriman, Knuth, McGillan and Steinhauer voted no. Mayor Goodland voted to adjourn to break the tie.

Buy Schultz Land

The Schultz property was purchased to furnish earth to be used as fill on the Lawrence college campus along the Fox river shore. The resolution to give the college the fill stipulated that it must be taken from the Schultz property by Oct. 1, 1940. The $4,000 will be turned over to the college. The action was taken to settle an obligation made when the city installed an interceptor sewer across the college property when the sewage plant was built.

Alderman Vanderheyden opposed the construction of the boat slips and wanted to know "where all this spending is going to stop."

He said: "We have no definite assurance that the boat stalls will be rented for more than a year and it's assuming another $12,000 of expense on an uncertainty. The men may not live or they may sell their boats. We have no right to obligate the taxpayers except for necessary city expenses."

Favors Boat Slips

"One of the beauties of this proposition is that it won't concern the poor taxpayers with whom Alderman Vanderheyden is always sympathizing. There won't be a cent of taxes to pay. The building will pay for itself through renting stalls to boat owners," Alderman Thompson said.

Alderman Keller explained the yacht club intends to lease the property and pay off the principal with interest annually. He maintained construction of the slips and clubhouse would add to Appleton's park system and would be an attraction to bring outside people to the city.

Alderman Gignon pointed out that if the slips were built and the club developed, the city would collect more taxes from clubmembers who owned boats.

On the resolution to prepare a PWA application and bond the city for the city's share of the cost, about $12,000, Alderman Vanderheyden voted no.

Rule 13 of the city council rules was referred back to the committee without discussion and so retained its reputation as stumbling block No. 1.

Apply for Licenses

Applications for permit to sell beer at Fair park, filed by the Appleton Trades and Labor council and the Pulp and Paper Workers union, were referred to the police and license committee.

Three proposed ordinances were approved and ordered published. One is an ordinance to vacate Opechee street from Pacific street to Winona way. The other two stipulate that in the event a cash bond or other security deposit is filed with the city clerk for licenses to sell liquor or beer, the clerk may return the bond to the licensee if he files an affidavit, certified by the chief of police, that he has not violated any of the conditions of the bond during a period of not less than 60 days.

Licenses were granted to the following: operators, William Stadler, route 1, Menasha; Nick Drexler, 132 N. Bennett street; John Metz, 201 S. Walnut street; Frank W. Kirk, 209 W. Pacific street and George Schwendeman, Hotel Appleton; taxi, Appleton Town Taxi, Inc.; liquor, Voigt's Drug company; junk, J. P. Johnson, route 2, Appleton; Sam Simonofski, 506 N. Superior street; Sam Schiff, 1008 N. Morrison street; and A. Brudnick, 542 N. Clark street.

Petitions for curbs and gutters and other street improvements were referred to the street and bridge committee.

Spencer, Adventurer From Appleton, in Headlines of Nation's Press Once More

As a youth in Appleton, Harold Sherwood Spencer had plenty of initiative and fairly bristled with ideas, according to people who remember him well.

The son of Municipal Judge A. M. Spencer, he got an appointment to the naval academy at Annapolis, resigned after two years, and then started on the wanderings—both geographical and matrimonial—that made him a habitue of the front page.

He got on the front page mostly through his marriages to wealthy ladies considerably older than himself. Then, recently, after a quiet spell, he was right back there again—this time because he sold his Hudson river estate directly across from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park to the followers of Father Divine, Negro cult leader.

Krum Elbow Estate

The estate is known as Krum Elbow. It is at the point on the Hudson river where the famous Poughkeepsie crew races start.

Spencer, in the role of a country editor, has been an outspoken critic of New Deal policies.

The Appleton man's checkered career started after he left Annapolis. He sailed for Europe. On the boat, he met a pleasant and wealthy widow of 42, the thrice married Mrs. Amanda Chambers Lloyd Perry Ballentine. The fact that there was a gap of 20 years in their ages did not preclude romance. They were married in Cairo, Egypt.

They were divorced after they returned to New York. The papers carried stories of a quarrel in a hotel room. The "boy bridegroom" was said to have thrown doughnuts at his wife.

War Correspondent

Spencer went to work for a New York newspaper and was sent to cover the war in Tripoli between Italy and Turkey. When Albania revolted against Turkey in 1912, the larger European powers intervened and declared Albania independent. Prince William of Wied was named king and Spencer—the son of the Appleton judge—was made chief of staff to the king.

After six months, a revolution forced William to abdicate and leave the country. The World war kept other powers too busy to worry about Albania, and there was nothing that could be done about it. Spencer left too.

Spencer joined the British army. He served in Palestine, at the Dardanelles, made a diplomatic mission in the Balkans, was stationed in Dublin during the Easter rebellion of 1916, fought in the World war trenches in 1917, and flew in the British air force a year later.

London Marriage

He found time between war skirmishes to acquaint himself with London society. In April of 1918, he married Isabella Beatty, daughter of Sir James Beatty. The marriage lasted to June, 1927, when it was dissolved in a private hearing in Appleton in the same courtroom where his father had presided as judge. Spencer was the plaintiff. He charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

Of the whole affair, Miss Beatty is said to have remarked: "Harold can be perfectly charming. He can make anyone believe anything. But in starting that divorce suit, he has gone beyond all limits of common sense—even for him."

Spencer was now in the importing business. In 1928 he inherited the Krum Elbow estate and considerable wealth through the death of his great-uncle, Mrs. Anna Corning of Saratoga, N. Y. A year later he changed his first name to Howland, filing an affidavit with the register of deeds at Appleton. There were too many other Harold Spencers, he said.

Link With Roosevelt

Howland is a family name and there is a rather vague relationship here between Spencer and President Roosevelt. It seems that a member of the Howland family without them there can be no corn loans.

They said prospects were for a corn loan of about 59 cents a bushel. Such a loan rate, they added, would virtually assure growers 59 cents a bushel corn prices.

Under a similar program, the government will begin making loans on wheat next week.

Wheat loans will range from 50 to 81 cents a bushel, varying with quality and distance from market. The average will be 59 cents.

Indian's Death Called Accidental Drowning

Ashland—(U)—Two companions of John Lamoreaux, 43-year-old Bayfield Indian whose body was found wrapped in a blanket on Brownstone island Tuesday, were released today after Sheriff Lyle Freeman of Ashland county termed the death an accidental drowning. A post mortem examination was made yesterday. Freeman said the three men set out on a trailing trip among the Apostle islands and that their boat crashed on rocks of Brownstone island.

was the first wife of the president's father, James Roosevelt. The president's mother was James Roosevelt's second wife, Sarah Delano.

In December of 1931, Spencer was married to Mrs. Emeline Harriman Olin, widow of Stephen H. Olin, daughter of Oliver Harriman and sister of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. This marriage ended in a series of suits and countersuits last year.

There is some expressed opinion that Spencer was actually married four times. It was reported in 1930 that Spencer had married Olivia Windham of Ramsbury, England, at the Krum Elbow estate, Miss Windham, however, left for England immediately after the supposed ceremony and Spencer, although he planned to follow, never did.

Now the editor of a Highland (N. Y.) country weekly, he devotes much of his time to castigating the Democratic regime. He is retaining a cottage and 15 acres of the Krum Elbow property. He won't have to worry about house hunting, however, for he owns the Otto Kahn estate of Earlham at West Palm beach.

Primary Results Reveal Split in Democratic Party

Large Independent Vote Still to be Reckoned With, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—What the primary election results in various states this week show conclusively is that a definite split has occurred in the Democratic party and that, for the most part, the regular party organizations are more powerful than the New Deal machines of office-holders.

Notwithstanding the widespread interest in primary elections, the fact remains that a relatively small vote is being polled and that the independent vote is still on the sidelines.

Where a candidate who has announced himself as a 100 per cent Rooseveltian is defeated, it does not mean necessarily that the administration's policies have been disapproved. It may well mean that the regular party organization is able to win a primary election and thus challenge the pretensions of the little group of "brain trusters" who have taken over temporarily the political management of Mr. Roosevelt's affairs in place of Mr. Farley. The squabbles inside the Democratic party are important only as an index of the revolt stirred up by the Roosevelt regime, but by no means as a sign of what will happen in the coming November election. Thus, when an anti-New Dealer wins a Democratic nomination for the senate or the house, as the case may be, he wants thereafter to do everything possible to gather unto himself all the pro-New Deal vote which was against him in the primary. The tendency of such a candidate sometimes is to pussfoot or back water in the hope of winning New Deal support. Some candidates, on the other hand, who want to gather in Republican votes, will maintain an attitude consistent with their anti-New Deal primary campaign. By so doing, they will hardly lose the pro-New Deal vote, which is bound to be Democratic anyway.

Few Cases
These cases are relatively few, however, because there have not been many contests in which anti and pro New Deal issues have been fought out in the northern states. In the southern states, where such a conflict has occurred, a nomination is equivalent to an election and the contest is, for all practical purposes, over.

In the main, therefore, the situations to watch are those where the Democrat favoring the New Deal or new Tory policies has won his nomination rather easily and where the anti-administration sentiment did not have a chance to crystallize behind a staunch opposition candidate. Here the independent, silent vote may find expression behind Republican nominees, since this would furnish the only opportunity for a straight-out trial of administration and anti-administration sentiment. The coming congressional campaign will have in its many new elements which the amateur politicians hereabouts will have introduced. Thus, the amateurs have managed to antagonize some of the most powerful elements, potentially speaking, in any congressional fight. The lawyers, for the most part, have been alienated, the small business men have been alienated, and now the new Tories have started a drive which will alienate the doctors of the nation.

There are approximately 150,000 active physicians in the whole country, and if the latest anti-trust prosecution or persecution is taken to heart by them, they will probably seek redress at the polls. Thus, if every doctor or lawyer who disapproves of the new Tory tactics were to make it his business to line up at least 20 votes in his own community between now and election day, urging friends and neighbors to vote against anybody who supports the Roosevelt administration as a rubber-stamp representative, such a movement would probably be strong enough to swing a national congressional election.

It takes a small percentage of the vote to shift victory from one candidate to the other in a congressional election, and, if all the disaffected groups, like the lawyers and doctors and small business men, as well as the unemployed and partially employed, made up their minds to eliminate the "Brain trusters" and the experimenters from the national picture, they could easily do it. A shift of 100 seats in the house of representatives would be the most effective way to put the brakes on the spendthrift administration here which is out to regulate everything from the practice of law and medicine to the number of acres a farmer can plant. Regimented and regulated America still has the ballot as a means of expression, whereas, in the other regimented and regulated countries where fascism has taken hold, there is no opportunity for such democratic processes to function.

The independent vote is at the moment sizing up the WPA relief scandals, the charges of corruption and dishonesty in Pennsylvania, the machine politics and scandals of Tennessee, the acknowledged evils in WPA voting in Kentucky and generally the whole messy picture of a so-called "liberal" administration, some of whose principal spokesmen are not averse to exploiting the people for their own selfish interests. It presents an issue which on many occasions in the past the American people have been alert to force into the open and act upon accordingly.

JOHN STRACHEY has provided a powerful irritant for the literary world in a book he calls "What Are We To Do?" ## Be A Safe Driver

Await Word From State on Aid for Improving Route

County Road Committee Has Asked $25,000 For Highway 125

The county highway committee still is awaiting word from the state highway department regarding aid for improving Highway 125 from Appleton to Superhighway 41. It is hoped that about $25,000 will be granted, and this sum would cover the cost of straightening curves and surfacing the concrete highway with blacktop.

It has been proposed that both Highways 125 and 47 be relocated with aid of a 45 per cent PWA grant from the federal government which now is available for state trunk highways and bridges. Committee members have discussed the proposals but no formal action has been taken because the committee is at present busy with summer work in the county.

One member said there was little chance of having Highway 125 relocated, but added that the road could be put into good shape provided the state allows funds for the improvement work. Discussions showed that improving Highway 47 from about a mile north of Appleton to the county line would run into several hundred thousand dollars and that the cost at this time seems prohibitive, even though a government grant could be secured. It was pointed out that the road is in poor condition, and that some action may be taken by the highway department before the deadline date, Sept. 30, for applying for a PWA grant.

For Safety In That Awful Instant When A Tire Suddenly Fails---

GOOD YEAR LIFEGUARDS

Even after casing and outer tube are torn wide open--you ride to a straight safe stop with your car under complete control.

In spite of millions spent in research, neither Good-year nor any other tire manufacturer can eliminate the possibility of sudden tire failure.

No tire is blow-out proof. No tire is puncture proof. Therefore, no motorist is safe from the dangers of tire failure.

The Life Guard has a 2-ply reserve tire inside the conventional tube. Both are inflated through the same valve. If casing and tube fail, this inner tire holds enough air to support the car until it can be brought to a smooth, controlled stop.

TWO MEN AND AMERICA

Charles H. Herty, one of the country's most painstaking and loveable scientists, is dead.

In a ramshackle laboratory he conducted persistent experiments for the purpose of creating useful industries where poverty had become the lot of the people. Thus, among other things, he brought use and therefore value to the vast slash pine forests of the south in working out practical methods by which this fast growing but otherwise rather useless wood could be converted into newsprint and book paper.

But it took more than his scientific ingenuity to obtain desirable results. His was the burden, too, of convincing industrialists against a background heavy with doubt and sometimes derision.

Mr. Herty was a happy man when, to crown his achievements, he witnessed the construction of a 5 million dollar mill in Florida by the Container Corporation and drove down the neat little avenues of modern homes of those who work there, homes built by hope and confidence to replace the one room shacks that that particular part of the country knew before Mr. Herty went to work.

Like Babcock of Wisconsin who created the milk test to the vast benefit of the dairy industry Herty employed his fine scientific genius for the benefit of the public.

Do not such men accomplish more by way of the abolishment of poverty than many who loudly proclaim their love of the public and their purpose to improve the general lot?

Anyway, it may be interesting to compare Mr. Herty with another man sufficiently important in our political life to have become the Republican governor of Maine. This man, Governor Lewis O. Barrows in an address to a women's organization pointed out how "through continuous thought and application" the women might be of great influence in directing the destinies of the commonwealth.

Then he suggested that Maine women adopt the practice of using three one-cent stamps which bear the likeness of Washington instead of a three-cent stamp bearing the likeness of Jefferson which, the great governor suggested, "will indicate in a small way the desire to carry on the traditions on which this country was founded." Washington being inclined more than Jefferson to conservatism.

Then this noble governor insisted that though his suggestion might "seem a trivial thing, it is only by being vigilant in such little things that we can overcome the alarming and disturbing things of today," all of which is about as reeking bilgewater as was ever ladled out to a patient public.

Men of the Barrows type are constantly elected to office where they jeopardize the welfare of the people whereas the Herty brand, walking modestly in the crowd, go unacclaimed.

We aren't so much better in many particulars than the Germans. With marvelous scientific and philosophical thinkers the folks beyond the Rhine deliberately chose as leader a prince of quacks because he was sufficiently astute to play upon their fear, their hatred and their cupidity. The best thinkers wouldn't promise so much. They lost.

What chance would a man have to be elected governor, say right here in Wisconsin, if he got up and told the unadorned truth?

We need not sigh at the harsh injustices of the past and regret the wrong compassed when a little thief was hanged and a great one made king.

We still boast a Barrows and forget a Herty. We take to our arms those who cleverly amuse their talents at arousing our greed and envy, and we roughly repulse the splendid men who ask our suffrage on a platform, decent and honest.

1000 simoleons right on the line does anyone imagine that such a financial transaction of such a magnitude took place without agreement and understanding?

What is left to the AFL but to match dollars with the CIO? Money talks. And when it talks it demands a return for the benefit it has wrought.

We have an act of congress prohibiting corporations from contributing to campaigns. As construed by Mr. Farley this does not prevent the sale of old telephone books at $250 per. But it is noticeable that since the exposure the sales have stopped although it would be expecting too much to ask that the illegal money be returned to the corporations.

We need, obviously, a tightening and extension of the law so that contributions can only be made by individuals and that such labor leaders as may be rapacious for power shall be prevented from misusing dues paid in by the workers.

WHEN A LAWSUIT BECOMES POLITICAL

The jury in the Harlan county, Kentucky case trying 46 men and companies for an alleged conspiracy to thwart the formation of a union in the coal fields has been dismissed hopelessly deadlocked at 7 to 5 for acquittal, the same vote it showed on the opening ballot.

From far-off Wisconsin it appeared that the government had quite a pile of formidable looking evidence although of course no one ordinarily seeks to weigh conflicting testimony without hearing it all and actually seeing the witnesses deliver it.

The trial deteriorated into a political shindig. Before the evidence was fairly started it was evident that John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers were as much on trial as anyone else and perhaps more so. The statement credited to one of the jurors, "I will rot in hell before sending a man to the penitentiary to help John L. Lewis," may indicate how well the defendants played their trump cards in bringing Mr. Lewis into the fray even though the burly labor-leader was not present in person.

The trouble with the Harlan county situation was that, however guilty the defendants may have been, the labor leader's hands were dripping with blood. For instance, one of the overt acts charged in the conspiracy was shooting into the home of one Musick and killing his son. The government had evidence that a former deputy sheriff was seen behind a gun barrel aimed at that home but the defendants were able to bring an array of witnesses to show that a union organizer was out the same night firing into other houses in an apparent effort through this means of establishing union solidarity.

Evidence of this character, added no doubt by the tough reputation of the United Mine Workers for brutal methods, gave the defense enough to stand on while the charge was hurled back at the prosecution that the case was "a plot by the United Mine Workers to use the strong arm of the United States to end the open shop in Harlan county."

W. C. Jacobson, Sarlo Balliet, Edward Kiloren, James H. Balliet, J. F. Johnson, J. Gallipeau, T. J. Long, C. O. Collipp, F. N. Belanger and Kurt Koletzke were selected as delegates to represent the local Elks lodge at the 1928 state convention at Oshkosh in August.

Miss Mabel Jensen, by defeating Ruth Larson in the finals of the city ladies' championship tennis tournament the previous evening, was declared Neneah champion and received the Aspasch trophy.

Excavation for the new foundry of the Appleton Machine company to be built by the Valley Construction and Engineering company on S. Oneida street, north of the Chicago and North Western depot, was almost completed. The new foundry was to be 137 feet long and 100 feet wide and was to cost about $90,000.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Aug. 7, 1913
Albert Alonzo Hall, veteran of the Civil war and employee of the Chicago and North Western railway, died at 10 o'clock the previous night. For years he was flagman at the College avenue crossing.

The steamer R. C. Brown of Oshkosh went on the rocks near the light house at Menasha the previous morning and was still fast that day. The grading crew had commenced cutting down Superior street in preparation for the laying of concrete between Washington and Franklin streets.

Another new factory had been secured for Appleton, President John L. Hettinger of the Commercial club announced that day. The Millard Manufacturing company was to move from Gladwin, Mich., to this city. It was announced. Racked hoops, hoop timbers and articles in that line comprised the chief output of the plant, which would employ about 25 men.

Ninety-five per cent of the families in this country have no paid help.

In 1652 a mint was established in Boston at which Pine Tree shillings were coined.

Advertisements, investment and publishing firms employ a larger proportion of women with higher academic training than other offices.

Statistics show that there is more prejudice against employment of married women in clerical work than in other lines of work.

In 1930, textile mills with 452,007 women employed as operatives and laborers, ranked first among the women-employing industries in this country.

Black locust trees produce good timber for posts, furnish blossoms for honey, checks soil erosion and enrich the land with nitrogen stored in nodules on their roots.

French fliers hold more international aircraft records than the aviators of any other country. France holds 32 air records; Italy, 33; United States, 19; Russia, 18; Germany, 17; Czechoslovakia, 13, and Great Britain, 10.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

The plans we made are dust. We could not do
The lovely deed, nor see the long dream through.

How many times we built a magic tower,
And saw it tumble in the troubled hour!

And now again, the trip we longed to take
Has vanished, with our tall plans in its wake!

But every jolly map we looked upon,
And all the fun we had! They are not gone!

And though our disappointment is so plain,
Nothing will stop our making plans again!

Dale Harrison's In Old New York

New York—Everything happens to me. Some columnists have 82 bathrobes, 167 cravats, 32 pearl-handled bowie knives and 11,243 souvenir postcards. With me it's different. All I have is trouble.

The telephone rang the other day. A man's voice spoke:

"Is this Mr. Dale Harrison?"

I confessed.

The voice said: "This is Detective Harkins of the Missing Persons Bureau."

I replied I was happy to make his acquaintance.

He said: "I have been searching for you all day."

I asked him why. He said: "You are wanted."

This was quite a shock. I lead a quiet, orderly life. I rarely commit a murder, and I almost never do any bank robbing. I was surprised, therefore, to have a detective wanting me.

"What have I done, officer?" I inquired, quivering.

"Goodness knows," he replied. "All I can tell you is that Mr. Walter Lemann of Donaldsonville, Louisiana, has written the mayor asking us to locate you."

I hadn't the vaguest idea why Mr. Lemann wanted me located. I am willing to admit that I may at some time have broken a few teeny weeny laws, but never in Donaldsonville.

"Well, officer, you have done your duty. You have found me. Where do we go from here?" I said.

"You can go jump in the lake, as far as I'm concerned," the officer said. "I have found you. My work is done. I suggest that you communicate with Mr. Lemann at Donaldsonville."

It developed that Mr. Lemann had written me a letter in all good faith, and that the letter had been returned on the grounds that the postoffice department didn't know where I lived. Mr. Lemann, being a very determined man, decided to get in touch with me if it was the last thing he ever did. It seems that at various times he has desired to communicate with other people and has been rebuffed by the postoffice department. In desperation, he wrote Mayor LaGuardia, the mayor turned the Bureau of Missing Persons loose, and there I am—discovered at last.

Everything happens to me. I was out of town for a few days, and a telegram was delivered at my house. It was addressed to me, but Louella opened it. This is what it said:

"Arriving eleven p. m. Grand Central. Meet me. Love and kisses, Sylvia."

Louella went suddenly white. Treachery at the crossroads! Some woman was romancing her husband, and had the audacity to send telegrams of love right into her very home!

I returned the following day, and was greeted with a load of uxorial ice. "You are a cad, a bounder, a philanderer and a cheat," Louella cried. "Behind my back you are consorting with some hussy."

I was amazed. I demanded to know what was the matter. She flung the telegram in my face. "Love and kisses!" she hissed.

I read the telegram carefully. But I was calm. I am always calm. I said: "Louella, look at me. I never raise my voice in protest. I fetch you posies. I extol your virtues. I regard you as my good right arm. Yet here I find you beliving a little piece of paper with printing on it in preference to me. Your attitude shatters my faith in womanhood. Shame on you."

Louella said: "You are trying to talk yourself out of a sorry mess. Who is Sylvia?"

Just then there was a phone call from the telephone company. There had been a mistake. A telegram intended for another guest named Harrison had been delivered at my house by mistake. So sorry. Goodbye.

Louella apologized. She said she knew all the while that I was innocent. She said no other woman would have me even on a Christmas tree. She went humming into the kitchen and baked me a gooseberry pie, inasmuch as I am very fond of gooseberry pie.

But I do not feel very good. Detectives calling up. Women sending love and kisses. Alas and alack. Everything happens to me.

7,000 Miles Of New Trees

Washington—For four years the hooters—including many congressmen—have been trying to kill that shelterbelt idea in the western plains country.

But there stand the shelterbelts—$4,000,000 trees—swaying serenely in the prairie winds. Trees have been placed on 13,000 farms, in strips 115 feet wide. The total length of these strips is 7,000 miles—in a north-south zone 100 miles wide.

And now the government has announced it plans to plant trees this year in 6,000 more miles of strips.

Trees—But No Forest

You don't hear so much hooting these days—perhaps because the government isn't going in for so much publicity. Most of the jeers came from people who thought there was going to be a solid, 100-mile-wide forest stretching from Canada to Texas. Because of that misconception, the forest service had to do a lot of explaining.

It explained that shelterbelts are really short strips of trees and shrubs usually planted 10 rows wide from a quarter to three-quarters of a mile long, they run along the side of a farm from which the most damaging winds blow. The purpose is to deflect the wind so it won't blow the soil away, to lessen extremes of temperature, and to save moisture.

The fact is, the forest service pointed out, that prairie farmers for generations have been doing haphazard shelterbelting on their own.

Farmers Must Help

Now the forest service supplies the trees from its own or leased nurseries. The government, using relief labor, plants the trees. The farmers and the communities in the shelterbelt zone supply the land and cultivate the trees.

On a typical 160-acre farm, there will be about 8,000 trees, occupying about 100 acres. Trees have been planted in North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—Life history of a beetle:

1916—Japanese beetle makes U. S. debut at Riverton, N. J. (In that year, President Wilson kept us out of war.)

1926—Japanese beetle spreads into nearby edge of Delaware.

1936—Japanese beetle makes page one. (It was the year, also, of the Roosevelt landslide.)

1938—Flash: Japanese beetle invades Times Square, overruns southeast Washington.

Thus quietly, amid the big news of the world, did the bug sneak upon us.

These beetle-facts, and more, can be had by talking to Dr. Bennett A. Porter, who is the Japanese beetle expert in the Department of Agriculture. Dr. Porter has other things to do, but can't get them done. The beetles take so much time.

The beetle, only the size of a split pea, is a serious menace. It is ruthless. It destroys the gardens and crops of innocent non-combatant gardeners with the same smiling unconcern with which it eats the crops of professional farmers.

Red Faces East

In all fairness to the Japanese people, it should be stated that they are ashamed of their beetle. In a quiet way some of their more public-minded scientists have suggested that it would improve Japanese-American relations greatly if the beetle were called something else.

All the department can do is to study how to combat it, and answer frantic appeals from housewives on how to save their geraniums and that fine American Beauty rose, Aunt Mamie sent. Dr. Porter, while worried does not lose his head. He explains that such scourges his peak and then, under proper control methods, taper off to a normal level.

Around Riverton, it is tapering off. But panic-stricken truck gardeners in the rich Maryland, Virginia, New York, Delaware and Pennsylvania countryside this year find the pest at its most damaging peak.

Telephone calls, telegrams and letters pour into the Department. A woman writes that she has found a control. "Put the beetles in a pan," she says, "then sprinkle salt brine on them. It kills them."

Orchardists, seeing their fruit trees denuded and the fruit itself eaten to the stem, cannot gather up 10,000,000 bugs in a pan and pickle them.

"Nothing can be done—I'm ruined," wails a truck farmer near Elkton, Maryland. State and federal authorities cooperate with him in a spray program.

Want a Pamphlet?

A farmer can't put poison spray on certain garden crops, such as cabbage, lettuce, beans. But a white spray, such as lime, discourages the beetles, although it is harmless. That helps.

Year by year the beetle is widening its circle of its attack. What will it do when it reaches the mid-west corn belt? It destroys corn by eating the silk, preventing pollination. Spraying probably is too costly for field corn. Maybe that problem will be solved by the time the scorch hits the midwest.

If you must know more, the Department will send you a pamphlet. You might as well get ready. The thing is moving your way year by year.

It's Odd But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
New York—Future scientists may discover how to make clothes which can be eaten.

The beginning of this idea is already a fact—in the new synthetic wool, made from milk, in Italy.

Men cannot eat this synthetic wool. But numerous kinds of bacteria can. Furthermore they do eat it, according to tests announced by Jan Smit and B. van der Heide of Wageningen, Holland.

US GUYS DON'T GET A CHANCE TO EAT THIS NEW TYPE OF WOOL. THESE GUYS DO.

Italy's artificial wool, made from the casein, or cheese part of milk, is so good that chemists are predicting a great industry in this kind of textile. It occurred to Dutch scientists these clothes might be subject to unusual threats.

They found many varieties of bacteria which liked the wool.

Scientifically the presumption is that chemists will be able to add a bad taste to the artificial wool which will keep the bacteria from eating it—if anyone lives where germs start to take the clothes off his back.

Your Birthday

"LEO"

If August 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. until 12 noon; from 2 to 4 p. m., and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m., from 6 to 8 p. m., and from 10 p. m. until midnight.

Ungoverned impulses will get many people into trouble this day, unless they are of an inspirational nature. Avoid being too impulsive in offering to do favors, for this will probably be another way to get yourself into hot water. Businessmen and salesmen cannot afford to relax in their efforts to get results, for competition is apt to be unduly keen. This is an auspicious day for partners, department heads or sales managers to meeting for the purpose of interchanging ideas, formulating plans, and discussing future policies. This day it might be advisable to tout your own horn loud enough to attract attention, otherwise your work might not be appreciated. Don't voluntarily assume too much responsibility, for instead of receiving thanks you are likely to be criticized. Married and engaged couples, as well as those discussing the possibilities of becoming affianced, must be careful about making wild statements without verifications, if they wish to keep out of trouble.

If a woman and August 5 is your birthday, you may be somewhat of an idealist. Try not to be visionary regarding business prospects, and make every endeavor to consider any business proposition from a practical rather than an optimistic angle. You should be a well-entertaining companion, have a well-developed sense of humor, and be witty and kind. You may be a bit too unconventional to meet with the

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

SO YOU'RE NOT IMMUNE?

In April fifty-two interstate bus tourists contracted typhoid fever, and six deaths occurred, all from drinking water from a contaminated well in a small town where the bus stops long enough for passengers to get a meal.

It was discovered by the health authorities that the well from which the contaminated water came had been infected by a leaking sewer which passed near the well pit. The health authorities are still trying to trace the original source of the infection—presumably some person who had typhoid fever and who was not properly cared for; or possibly a healthy person who is a typhoid "carrier."

Some of the victims were from New York, some from Ohio, some from Illinois, some from California. It is not unlikely that there may have been other cases from the same source which have not been recognized—either cases of illness not diagnosed as typhoid, or cases of typhoid where the source of infection is not suspected. Since it takes two or three weeks for the illness to begin after infection has occurred, many passengers infected by the contaminated well water will have arrived at their destination and forgotten the bus-trip by the time they come down with the fever.

Among the recommendations made by the health authorities in the State where the infection occurred are these:

1. Establishment of full-time public-health units with adequate personnel to inspect all semipublic water supplies.
2. Strengthening of the laws regarding the inspection of water supplies.
3. Regular inspection and grading of sanitation and water supplies of restaurants and other eating places.
4. Searching inspection of all interstate bus eating places.

While we are at it, perhaps it would be a boon for public health if some sort of half-way sanitary regulations were imposed on ALL places where food is sold to be consumed on the premises. Far complete approval of some of your relatives. Your versatility should be one of your greatest assets and might lead to your doing several things exceedingly well. You probably have more than your share of courage, and perhaps, express yourself too vigorously if angered. As a sculptor, dramatist, author, singer, sales agent or actress your way to fame is apt to be comparatively easy. Your greatest happiness and social triumphs are likely to originate in marriage.

The child born on August 5, usually has many sterling qualities. Ambition will carry it far in life. Wealth and happiness which are blessings, possibly will make this youngster's mature years well worth living.

If a man and August 5 is your natal day, you might be an excellent judge of human nature. In all likelihood you will be a better leader than a follower. Through inventing, manufacturing, banking, brokering, acting, writing, painting or the practice of law money apparently will flow into your pockets and your name will be widely known.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

A Rebuff for the Chiropodists

Wondering what your attitude is toward the action taken by the A. M. A. in San Francisco in June in respect to physicians teaching in schools of chiropody. (E. J. M., M.D.)

Answer—A resolution was presented and referred to a judicial council, branding as unethical the practice of some physicians serving as teachers in schools of chiropody. This action or view, is, in my opinion, petty. The medical profession is small-minded about such things.

Mail Costs Money

Send the undersigned monographs on Hay Fever, Calcium and Vitamins Everybody Needs. (J. C.)

Answer—Gladly, if you will provide a three-cent stamped envelope bearing your address.

Aged Carrots

Should a person refuse to eat carrots after they are forty years of age? Nurse visiting my wife says hospital doctors allow no one to eat carrots after they are forty years of age. I am sixty and enjoy some raw carrot or steamed carrots now and then. (K. L. D.)

Answer—Carrots are good for any one of any age. The "nurse" drew a wrong inference.

FEEDERS AND POLICE

Editor Post-Crescent—Not wishing to criticize any one doing his duty or thinks he is, but being a normal citizen consequently my thoughts are aroused by observation. I rarely if ever drive down College ave. without from one to a dozen cars pass me as the I were standing still, yet they seem to be immune to arrest. Do they have more right to speed than others or are they not observed? It can't be that, for I meet several policemen. What I am wondering is why the police will shut their eyes to one and especially lay for others if they would remember that we all are tax payers and their salaries come from the taxes. No one lives to himself in this world, for this reason no one is exempt from the golden rule. It however appears that the golden rule is forgotten.

Younger Social Set Is Preparing for Opening Of Colleges, Universities

With the beginning of the school year just a flip of the calendar away, the younger set is sandwiching in between its summer sports and parties the business of filling out college application blanks, arranging for rooms in dormitories, wondering what fraternity or sorority would be the best to join and whether to go out or football or dramatics.

Hampton Purdy, who was graduated from Lawrence college in June, will go to Stanford university. Miss Mary Rose Conrad, who will enter Mount Mary college, Milwaukee, as a freshman next month, will have her sister, Jo Ann, to show her around, for Jo Ann attended the school last year and will be a sophomore this term. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Conrad, Jr., 324 W. Sixth street.

Two other sisters who will be college-bound next month are Miss Betty Boyer, who will return to Hiram college near Cleveland, Ohio, as a sophomore, and Miss Ivis Boyer, who will enter Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, as a freshman. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Boyer, 527 N. Ida street.

Miss Elizabeth Cathin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cathin, 322 South court, who studied at Lawrence college last year, has transferred her credits to Northwestern university, Evanston, where she will be a sophomore. Her brother, Tom, will return to Madison for his senior year in the chemical engineering course at the University of Wisconsin.

Among those going to schools in the east are Kay Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Rogers, 911 E. North street, who will be a freshman at Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass., and Gordon Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watts, 742 E. John street, will resume his studies at Swarthmore college, Swarthmore, Pa.

James Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bailey, 535 N. Meade street, will matriculate at Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

Transfers to Stout

Miss Geraldine Dillon, who took her first year at Lawrence college, will enter the sophomore class at Stout Institute, Menomonee, in September. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Dillon, 615 N. Bateman street.

Some of the Appleton girls who plan to enter Lawrence college this fall are Miss Betty Moore, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Moore, 1105 E. Lincoln street; Miss Lucille Heinritz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heinritz, 221 N. Union street; Miss Betty Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brown, 725 E. Eldorado street; Miss Myra Koltchek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Koltchek, 530 N. Vine street; and Miss Edna Murdock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Murdock, 722 S. Story street.

Miss Cordell Zuelke will attend Florida Southern college, Lakeland, Fla., as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Zuelke, 1014 E. Eldorado street, plan to spend the winter in Florida again. Her sister, Miss Florette Zuelke, will resume her studies at Lawrence college.

Miss Jane Frank, daughter of Mr. J. P. Frank, 228 N. Park avenue, will be a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin this fall, and her sister, Dorothy, who received a scholarship to Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, will study at that institution.

Returns to Notre Dame

Robert Stenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stenger, 729 N. Union street, will return to Notre Dame university as a junior. ## PWA Agrees That Power Authority Can Borrow Funds

Washington Agencies Still Are Studying Wisconsin's Request for Money

BY RUBY A. BLACK Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Public Works administration lawyers were authoritatively reported today to agree with Wisconsin officials that the proposed Wisconsin hydro authority is legally constituted to accept a loan and grant from the federal government to finance the $26,000,000 power, flood control, navigation, and recreational project.

Glenn Roberts, special counsel, left for Madison late Wednesday, following conferences with Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., and public works administration and reconstruction finance corporation attorneys. He refused to be quoted on the legal situation. The prospects for approval of the loan and grant, or the possibilities for speed in decision.

The loan, which would be around $14,000,000, would be secured by obligations issued by Wisconsin hydro, which the RFC would buy and possibly re-sell to the public, including insurance companies and banks. It would be repaid, it was explained, by the income from the 275,000,000 kilowatt hours of power to be produced at the three hydro-electric dams. Wisconsin officials expect to be able to sell all the power promptly, as private companies have already applied to the Wisconsin Public Service commission for authority to construct hydro dams at the same sites. They are understood to be willing to waive their priority if the development program is launched, and buy their power from Wisconsin hydro at wholesale.

The power to borrow money and issue securities is inherent in the corporation, officials said, and added they believed Wisconsin has the power to incorporate the authority, which, as a public agent, could receive the federal grant and loan.

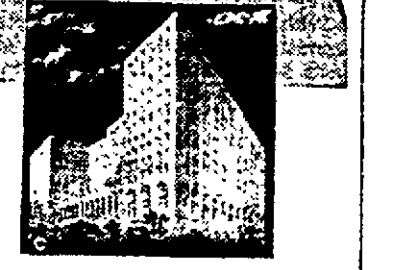

PWA's engineering, finance, and legal divisions are studying the application, and the RFC is studying the legal aspects and the prospects for repayment, as, under its arrangement with PWA to help finance large projects, it agrees to lend only to projects expected to produce sufficient income to amortize the loan.

Further negotiations will be necessary before final decision is rendered.

Pearl White Dies In Paris Hospital

WON FAME AND WEALTH IN Old American Movie Serial Thrillers

Paris—(P)—Pearl White, first heroine of the old American movie serials, died today in the American hospital.

She was 49 and had been ill for several weeks of a liver ailment. In the days when the motion picture business was young, movie audiences sat on the edge of their seats thrilling to the "Perils of Pauline," an adventure-packed serial in which the beautiful heroine managed to reach death's door at the end of each chapter, never to die.

"Pauline" was blonde Pearl White, blue-eyed actress catapulted to fame as the first of the dare-devils of the screen. Young America shuddered for a week at the thought of Pauline's perilous predicament, as each installment faded out with the black-bearded villain, likely as not cackling with satisfaction, the hero somewhere on the way to the rescue.

He always made the grade at the opening of the next episode, only to let "Pauline" get into deep trouble again. Besides the "Perils of Pauline" there were the "Exploits of Elaine" and a dozen other serials of the same melodramatic cast.

Pearl White grew rich on this. She went to Paris in the early twenties, and afterward saw little of the United States.

At the top of her fame she earned $10,000 a week, usually playing opposite Warner Oland, who was the villain.

Friends said the funeral probably would be held Saturday, with burial at Passy cemetery, near Miss White's town house.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to strain yourself along, when you feel tired, sick, because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just there are meat, bread and potatoes? If not a variety, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is that you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars" made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Be A Safe Driver

Neenah — Although the city council discussed sundry items at length in a 3-hour session at the city hall last night, the aldermen failed to transact anything but ordinary routine business.

A little humor was injected in the otherwise dull session when Alderman Robert Martens, apparently with serious intent, suggested that street sweepers and other city employees be dressed in striped clothes. Alderman Richard O'Brien asked him if the stripes should be large. The council, however, settled by giving the street sweepers a day off with pay for their annual picnic.

Maybe the weather had something to do with the heated discussion over a routine matter of officially hiring T. D. Talmadge as architect for the $100,000 swimming pool and bathing beach. Alderman Martens insisted that all local workers should be hired on the project, and Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs and the aldermen pointed out that the architect has nothing to do with hiring the laborers and that the council had made an agreement with the two donors to employ Talmadge when it accepted the donors' offer of $50,000 and property.

Alderman Martens became excited in the discussion and said, "There will be a big change in the city's administration next spring, wait and see."

The resolution stipulating a 6 per cent fee on construction costs and $1,000 for engineering services for the architect was adopted.

The alleged obnoxious noise caused by switching Son Line trains again was aired, and after a lengthy discussion the council agreed that it couldn't do much about it, but the aldermen instructed the city clerk to write the railroad company requesting curtailment of "flying switches." The discussion was prompted by a petition signed by 55 persons living in that district protesting against noise. The mayor said that the people objected to the switching from 11 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock in the morning. Alderman Andrew Anderson reviewed a lengthy report of a meeting with Son Line officials in which the officials agreed to curtail the noise.

When queried, City Attorney John W. O'Leary said that the council could petition the state public service commission, but he added, the company has a right to operate. Trains can't be made up during the day while through traffic is being operated, and Neenah is one of the largest shipping points on the company's line.

Referred to Committee

A petition for a sidewalk on the west side of the street from Caroline to Adams streets was referred to the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges, and the monthly report of Justice Gaylord C. Loehning showing total fines and fees amounting to $84.38 was read. Alderman Emil Harter, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 176 bills during the month amounting to $11,983.26, the larger bills including a car of road oil, $438.00; curbs and gutters for $605.62; relief, $893.38; sand and gravel, $464.04; workmen's compensation insurance, $1,167.19; and street lighting, $1,141.32.

Alderman Walter Buschey reported that the bicycle licensing ordinance wasn't ready because Menasha was still working on its ordinance which will be adopted in conjunction with Neenah's proposed law. Alderman Martens' motion that an appropriation amounting to about $2,000 for a new city ambulance be put into the 1939 budget, was carried. He reported that the present ambulance was purchased in 1927 and it has been on 2,750 calls and covered a distance of 16,000 miles. Alderman Kunschke, Andrew Andersen and Edward Schultz opposed the motion. The mayor had pointed out that the motion wasn't necessary, for it didn't bind the council, and that as far as reminding the council of the appropriation, the motion could be forgotten, too.

Suggestion Dies

Alderman Marten then suggested that the Shattuck park lagoon and adjacent waters be filled, declaring that the water was stagnant. It had been brought out at a previous meeting that the city is obliged to maintain the park and that it has no right to fill in the lagoon. The alderman's suggestion wasn't discussed by the other aldermen.

It was brought up at the meeting when Alderman John Heigl wanted to know why construction on sidewalks on Lake street hadn't been started, that the city's extensive sidewalk repair and installation program wasn't progressing as rapidly as expected. The consensus of the aldermen was that lack of equipment and lack of finishers was curtailing progress. The matter was referred to the streets committee for investigation.

Alderman Schultz' motion to have 850 feet of fire hose relined at a cost of 60 cents a foot was carried, and a suggestion by Alderman Heigl to move a street light in the middle of Mayor street to the intersection of Mayor and Whitlow streets was referred to the committee on utilities with power to act.

Will Meet With Board

The council agreed to meet with the board of education to determine how much additional land is needed for Kimberly school. The meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the school grounds. The board recently requested the council to purchase land adjacent to the school for playgrounds and also to provide space for a new school building has to be enlarged.

The city attorney gave a detailed report of a meeting with officials of the Meyer Burstein company relative to the company's protest to the paving of E. Canal and Walnut streets. Officials informed the city attorney, the latter reported that the proposed thoroughfare would interfere with the company's loading and unloading of trucks at its warehouse. The company plans eventually to move its warehouse

Freund Explains Hitler's Success In Nazi Germany

Ripon College Professor Says New Culture Is Primitive

Neenah — Dr. Ludwig Freund, sociology professor at Ripon college, in a talk before the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn, charged that Hitler was inciting a primitive culture in a German nation which once held the leadership in cultural life of the world, as well as being a leading economic, political and industrial power in Europe. Dr. Freund, however, refused to make any predictions as to the outcome of the National Socialist movement in Germany.

Explaining the psychological reasons underlying the national socialist movement and the success, impetus and strength of Hitler's domination in Germany, the college professor who was forced out of Germany in July, 1934, told the Kiwanians that a sudden awakening of interest in politics, a lag in political judgment, disappointment and disillusionment of the economic structure and military machine following the World war and a development of a sense of isolation as the result of the treaty were some of the reasons responsible for the movement.

Hitler, he said, is the most clever psychologist of this time. He knows the German people and their reactions, and he explained Hitler's "plight" in the state.

His Technical Means

The closest statement bordering on a prediction made by the speaker was injected in a question, "If the Roman Catholic church fails, how can Hitler succeed?" He admitted, however, that Hitler has more technical means to succeed than the church.

One of the most interesting items promulgated by the college professor was the explanation of censorship in Germany. He said that only avowed Nazi persons are permitted to leave Germany and that with the constant influx of propaganda in the nation, not only are the citizens unaware of any existing controversy but that even foreigners, traveling through Germany, are swayed by it.

"The German people are as complex as any other nationality with the exception of Americans," Dr. Freund said in explaining that it wasn't just one characteristic that resulted in the National Socialist movement. "The German of the pre-war period was a man who tolerated cultural pursuit. It was a nation which had an upper strata of society which indulged in culture; in fact, it was a music loving nation with famous universities, learned men, leading in politics, economics, and industry."

Despotism Weakness

"One of the weaknesses of the Germans was the rule of despotism," the Kiwanians were told, and the professor averred that all nations have weaknesses which mold their characteristics and outlook.

"The rule of despotism resulted in an acquiescence in politics, a passive interest in political matters by the masses. A minor movement had been started among the working classes, but it was not serious. The Nazi could succeed by winning over the working classes which already had contested the rule of the Hohenzollerns, and the workers were disappointed and disillusioned. The rest were awakened by the constant change of economic dissolution, the principle of ruling and the disappointment in the war machine," he said.

The nation developed a sense of isolation, believing the rest of the world was against her, the doctor contended. "Although the Germans inherited a feeling of love for foreigners, they kept a mental suspicion as the result of the war treaty," he pointed out.

Clever Psychologist

"Being a clever psychologist, Hitler knows that to get unified reaction from the people, all he has to do is to inject a foreign issue into a question before he allows the people to go to the polls," the speaker explained.

The National Socialist movement restores to the Germans their national pride as far as dealing with international forces. "They always have a feeling of possible attack and potential danger from their surrounding neighbors, a feeling

870 Vaccinated

Preventive diphtheria treatments were given 339 persons, 29 of which were preschool children and 4 were adults.

Five regular tuberculosis testing clinics were sponsored by the Winnebago County Medical society at which 648 persons were given the test; 641 of which were read. Readings showed 581 negative and 52 positive tests.

In gopher prevention work of the school health department, 1,955 students took the gopher prevention pills. 129 students from St. Patrick's school, 653 from the senior high school and 1,161 students from the grade schools.

Vision Tests

Vision tests were given 652 second, fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth grade students during the year and examinations were given grade and high school students to determine the number of cases of athletes foot. Twenty-eight senior school girls, 22 grade school children and 46 senior school boys were found to be suffering from the disease.

Four Boys Escape After Boat, Canoe Go Over Dam Crest

Three, Able to Walk on Bottom, Help Shorter Companion to Safety

Menasha — Four boys, three from Neenah and one from Menasha, narrowly escaped drowning when the canoe and boat in which they were riding went over the government dam near the Mill street bridge this morning.

The boys were William Russell, 15, 444 W. North Water street, Neenah, Robert Koser, 11, 306 N. Commercial street, Neenah, Gilbert Klainer, 7, 512 Main street, Neenah, and Donald Clark, 16, 116 Railroad street, Menasha.

All but Koser, who is short in height, were able to touch the river bottom without the water going over their heads. Koser had to be assisted by the other boys and he swallowed considerable water. The boys walked across the river to the Wooden Ware bridge.

The youngsters 2 in the boat and two in the canoe, had been paddling down the river toward the government dam and when they approached the crest, the strong current pulled them over. They attempted to pull against the current but were unsuccessful. There is more than six inches of water going over the crest of the dam.

A young man, Gordon Stowe, 23, Oshkosh, was drowned May 21 when the boat in which he was riding went over the same dam. A companion, Miss Lauretta Hunsader, 26, 321 Chute street, Menasha, escaped uninjured at that time.

Council Debates Problems But Takes Little Action

Neenah — Although the city council discussed sundry items at length in a 3-hour session at the city hall last night, the aldermen failed to transact anything but ordinary routine business.

A little humor was injected in the otherwise dull session when Alderman Robert Martens, apparently with serious intent, suggested that street sweepers and other city employees be dressed in striped clothes. Alderman Richard O'Brien asked him if the stripes should be large. The council, however, settled by giving the street sweepers a day off with pay for their annual picnic.

Maybe the weather had something to do with the heated discussion over a routine matter of officially hiring T. D. Talmadge as architect for the $100,000 swimming pool and bathing beach. Alderman Martens insisted that all local workers should be hired on the project, and Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs and the aldermen pointed out that the architect has nothing to do with hiring the laborers and that the council had made an agreement with the two donors to employ Talmadge when it accepted the donors' offer of $50,000 and property.

Predicts 'Big Change'

Alderman Martens became excited in the discussion and said, "There will be a big change in the city's administration next spring, wait and see."

The resolution stipulating a 6 per cent fee on construction costs and $1,000 for engineering services for the architect was adopted.

The alleged obnoxious noise caused by switching Son Line trains again was aired, and after a lengthy discussion the council agreed that it couldn't do much about it, but the aldermen instructed the city clerk to write the railroad company requesting curtailment of "flying switches." The discussion was prompted by a petition signed by 55 persons living in that district protesting against noise. The mayor said that the people objected to the switching from 11 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock in the morning. Alderman Andrew Anderson reviewed a lengthy report of a meeting with Son Line officials in which the officials agreed to curtail the noise.

When queried, City Attorney John W. O'Leary said that the council could petition the state public service commission, but he added, the company has a right to operate. Trains can't be made up during the day while through traffic is being operated, and Neenah is one of the largest shipping points on the company's line.

Referred to Committee

A petition for a sidewalk on the west side of the street from Caroline to Adams streets was referred to the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges, and the monthly report of Justice Gaylord C. Loehning showing total fines and fees amounting to $84.38 was read. Alderman Emil Harter, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 176 bills during the month amounting to $11,983.26, the larger bills including a car of road oil, $438.00; curbs and gutters for $605.62; relief, $893.38; sand and gravel, $464.04; workmen's compensation insurance, $1,167.19; and street lighting, $1,141.32.

Alderman Walter Buschey reported that the bicycle licensing ordinance wasn't ready because Menasha was still working on its ordinance which will be adopted in conjunction with Neenah's proposed law. Alderman Martens' motion that an appropriation amounting to about $2,000 for a new city ambulance be put into the 1939 budget, was carried. He reported that the present ambulance was purchased in 1927 and it has been on 2,750 calls and covered a distance of 16,000 miles. Alderman Kunschke, Andrew Andersen and Edward Schultz opposed the motion. The mayor had pointed out that the motion wasn't necessary, for it didn't bind the council, and that as far as reminding the council of the appropriation, the motion could be forgotten, too.

Suggestion Dies

Alderman Marten then suggested that the Shattuck park lagoon and adjacent waters be filled, declaring that the water was stagnant. It had been brought out at a previous meeting that the city is obliged to maintain the park and that it has no right to fill in the lagoon. The alderman's suggestion wasn't discussed by the other aldermen.

It was brought up at the meeting when Alderman John Heigl wanted to know why construction on sidewalks on Lake street hadn't been started, that the city's extensive sidewalk repair and installation program wasn't progressing as rapidly as expected. The consensus of the aldermen was that lack of equipment and lack of finishers was curtailing progress. The matter was referred to the streets committee for investigation.

Alderman Schultz' motion to have 850 feet of fire hose relined at a cost of 60 cents a foot was carried, and a suggestion by Alderman Heigl to move a street light in the middle of Mayor street to the intersection of Mayor and Whitlow streets was referred to the committee on utilities with power to act.

Will Meet With Board

The council agreed to meet with the board of education to determine how much additional land is needed for Kimberly school. The meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the school grounds. The board recently requested the council to purchase land adjacent to the school for playgrounds and also to provide space for a new school building has to be enlarged.

The city attorney gave a detailed report of a meeting with officials of the Meyer Burstein company relative to the company's protest to the paving of E. Canal and Walnut streets. Officials informed the city attorney, the latter reported that the proposed thoroughfare would interfere with the company's loading and unloading of trucks at its warehouse. The company plans eventually to move its warehouse

Protect Workmen

With prospects of a dangerous traffic problem on N. Commercial street at the railroad crossing which is being repaired, near the Kimberly-Clark corporation, the council took steps to provide police protection for the workmen who are repairing the crossing. The committee on traffic and safety was instructed to determine whether a special policeman has to be hired to tend the crossing, and the mayor said that in such case, he would swear in the special officer.

Alderman Carl Loehning reported that work on the crossing started Wednesday. The Soo Line and Chicago and North Western railroad companies which use the crossing are furnishing black top material and lifting the tracks to the level of the street grade and the city is furnishing WPA labor to do the work. The tracks are at least 13 inches below grade level.

The council voted to have the city attorney investigate the need for an ordinance for installing arterial stop signs on Forest avenue at N. Commercial street and on N. Commercial street at Wisconsin avenue. It was pointed out that the intersections were dangerous to traffic when the automatic traffic lights were turned off after 11 o'clock at night.

Suggestions Rejected

A communication from the Kimberly-Clark corporation suggesting three methods of relieving traffic congestion on N. Commercial street during the noon hour, was read, but the council rejected the suggestions as unfeasible. The city clerk was instructed to write the corporation and explain the council's appreciation of its interest in the matter.

Alderman Andrew Anderson reported to the council that the petition requesting that Cedar street be extended has been rejected because it didn't correspond to state law. All of the 10 required signers weren't residents of the ward. He said, however, that the petitioners are drawing up another petition which would be submitted soon.

Upon the suggestion of Alderman Buschey, the council decided that driveways on N. Commercial street will be marked. An invitation to the manager of the Embassy theater to appear before the council to explain why the theater isn't being extended during the summer will be extended, it was decided. The manager has expressed a desire to give the explanation, according to Alderman Loehning.

Dwyer Admits He Ignored Carroll In His Confession

Told Sheriff Last Fall He Killed 'Because I Needed the Money'

South Paris, Maine — (P) — Paul N. Dwyer admitted today under cross-examination he made no mention of former Deputy Sheriff Francis Carroll, the man he now accuses of the double slaying after his arrest in North Arlington, N. H. where he was found asleep in an automobile containing the bodies of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Littlefield of South Paris.

Dwyer, 18-year-old youth who confessed the killing previously and is serving a life term, testified yesterday Carroll strangled the physician when he threatened to expose Carroll's alleged relations with his own 18-year-old daughter, Barbara.

He testified today, under cross-examination by Defense Counsel Clyde Chapman, that the North Arlington police took from him letters from Barbara Carroll in which she said her father seduced her.

Repudiates Statement
Chapman drew from the slim, pale Dwyer, the assertion he did not tell Maine officers the truth about the death of Mrs. Littlefield. In his original confession, Dwyer said he strangled the doctor's wife. Yesterday he repudiated that statement and testified Carroll killed the woman.

Chapman offered the statement as a defense exhibit. Dwyer identified the document as his.

In the statement, made to Sheriff F. F. Francis last fall, Dwyer said he killed Dr. Littlefield "because I needed the money." In it Dwyer also said the "girl angle" was a mistake and was based on letters found in his valise.

Under Chapman's searching examination, Dwyer unfolded a macabre account of the automobile ride he said he took through New England with Mrs. Littlefield while her husband's body was stuffed in the rear compartment of the physician's car.

Afraid to Tell
Dwyer insisted he was afraid to appeal to authorities in Maine, but had "thought" of informing Massachusetts police.

"What were you scared of?" Chapman asked.

Dwyer did not know," Dwyer replied.

The witness repeated direct testimony of the slaying of Mrs. Littlefield, which occurred, he said, after they returned to South Paris and saw Carroll driving away from his home.

Dwyer testified that after Carroll killed the elderly woman he asked "why I had taken Mrs. Littlefield away, and so not to appear to have double-crossed him. I said I had intended to kill her but did not have the opportunity." "You lied to him," the defense attorney asked.

"Yes," the witness replied.

Drive Residents Oppose Swimming Pool in Lutz Park

Tell Park Board Water Is Not Fit for Bathing: Protest Noise

Property owners living on River drive across the river from Lutz park vigorously opposed the development of the proposed swimming beach in the lagoon off the park at a meeting of the park board last night.

The delegation, headed by W. K. Miller, 118 River drive, protested on the grounds that they had purchased land on River drive to have a swimming pool developed at Lutz park; they will not be able to stand the noise.

They explained that anyone talking on the park side of the river plainly could be heard across the river and reminded the board that children scream and yell at the top of their voices when they are enjoying themselves swimming. The group also said the water in the Fox river is not fit to swim in and suggested the board build an artificial pool at Pierce park.

The board conceded there would be some noise but promised the delegation that if the pool was developed, a reasonable closing hour in the evening would be set.

Engineer to Draw Plans

The beach will be developed, members of the board said. If the permission of the war department is secured to build a dike from the shore to the dredge bank in the river to cut the river current. The city engineer has been instructed to prepare detailed plans and submit them to the war department for approval.

The board several months ago received the unofficial approval of the state board of health to develop the pool in the river.

Resurfacing of three tennis courts at Pierce park was discussed by members who authorized the board president to negotiate with contractors. Action on the purchase of a tree sprayer was deferred.

New Floods Deter Advance of Japs

Yangtze River Breaks Through Dikes to Plague Nipponese Army

Shanghai.—The Yangtze river floods threatened today to block the Japanese advance upstream toward Hankow, the provisional capital.

Broken dikes 30 miles above Kiating were said by Chinese to have caused inundation of large areas on the Yangtze's north bank and five towns the Japanese occupied this week after bitter fighting.

Chinese military sources believe the floods sufficient to force the Japanese to realize their offensive by making a wide sweep through Anhwei province and striking at Hankow from the north or northeast, instead of from the south or southeast. That would make them march through an extremely difficult mountainous region.

Early in June the Japanese were blocked by Yellow river floods just as they seemed ready to capture Chenchow, important railway junction 300 miles north of Hankow and, like Kiating, a "key" to Hankow.

The Yellow river floods continued spreading today, leaving a vast area still under water and disrupting communications throughout the zone served by the Lunghai and Peiping-Hankow railroads, which cross at Chenchow.

Japanese troops were still stuck in the mud in that district. Meanwhile, the newly-organized Chinese fourth route armies increased their activities in the Shanghai area, launching attacks against Japanese communication lines and areas throughout the district and dynamiting four bridges of the Henchou-Shanghai railway.

Don "Quixotic" Quinn, Troop 3, Neenah, took the decision in the third match over Jim "Foamy" Beers of Milwaukee. In one of the fastest fights of the evening, Ernest "Thumper" Thorpe, Clintonville, and Owen Brown of Appleton pounded away at one another, with the "Thumper" getting the judge's nod.

Marty Warner, Troop 8, Appleton, and Lee Wilcox of Lake Geneva, fought unattached, drew in the flyweight division. "Thinker" Thorpe of Clintonville, "Thumper" brother, won the 120-pound match from "Madman" Meidam of Troop 24, Clintonville. In the final classic, "Messump" Meifert of Troop 35, Shawano, outpunched Sam Atcherson, Troop 1, Appleton.

Twenty scouts proved their pioneer abilities Tuesday afternoon when they took the raft trip down the Wolf river. After walking two miles upstream on an old logging trail, the party forded the river to a level place, built rafts and shoved off downstream.

Hitler Promises To Better Ford In Car Building

Proposes to Manufacture Million and a Half $230 Autos Per Year

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—(AP)—Herr Hitler's new gas-buggy—the volksauto, or people's car, which he proposes to put into every German home alongside the china dog and family album—may very well revolutionize the European automotive industry if the machine proves up to expectations.

What Der Fuehrer promises is a sort of magic carpet in the form of a car which will do 100 miles on three gallons of gas at a speed of 62 miles an hour. All this for $230.

Success of any government depends on the contentment of its people, and the idea of putting a family automobile in the hands of every workman is the product of a nimble brain.

The Nazi government has advertised that it is going to out-Ford our Detroit, by dumping a million and a half of these cars on the market each year, as soon as the factories are completed, in about 1946.

To understand what the German plan means, one has to know that automobiles are regarded as unattainable luxuries by the big majority of European peoples. This is partly due to the cost of the better cars, but largely to the terrific price of gas, oil, tires and other accessories.

Under the Nazi volksauto program a prospective owner can buy his car in advance with payments of about $1.16 a week. The amazing part of this is that people are rushing in droves to turn their cash over to the government for "cars" which they may not get for maybe three years.

If this continues, it assures the government of a huge annual income which will finance the building of plants for manufacturing the car.

Republicans Map Plans For "Cornfield" Confab

Washington.—(AP)—Attaches at Republican National committee headquarters said today Chairman John Hamilton and Representative Martin (R-Mass.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign committee, would be among the party leaders at a "cornfield conference" near Washington, Ind., on Aug. 7.

They said Senator Townsend (R-Ind.), chairman of the senate campaign committee and Miss Marjorie Martin of Maine, assistant chairman of the national committee in charge of women's work, also were expected to attend.

The committee had not yet completed its invitation list. But in addition to those mentioned it included party officials from Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Iowa, Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri, and Minnesota. A keynote speaker has yet to be chosen.

Gives Self Up as Man Who Flew From Hospital

Pierre, S. D.—(AP)—A nice appearing youth walked into the South Dakota attorney general's office late yesterday and announced: "I want to be arrested."

Assistant Attorney General D. D. Doherty stared in amazement. The youth identified himself as Ernest Kronieck of Racine, Wis., and said he had escaped from a hospital about two weeks ago.

The youth was placed in the city jail and Wisconsin authorities notified.

Gets Permit to Build Addition to His Home

B. R. Murray, 619 N. State street, this morning was given a permit by the city building inspector to build an addition to his home. The improvement will be 21 feet long and 20 feet wide and cost is estimated at $1,500.

A permit to build a garage of frame materials was given to John Froelich, 411 E. Pacific street. The garage will be 10 by 13 feet and is estimated to cost $200.

Treasurer Gets Check From Water Department

A check of $29,876.40, representing 5 per cent interest on the city's equity in the Appleton water department for a 6-month period, was received yesterday by Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer. The city each year gets two checks from the department, one in January and one in August.

Bosserman, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, in charge. Burial will be in Highland Memorial cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from Friday morning to the time of the funeral.

It Is Said--

That a bat caused a brief interruption in the board of education meeting at Lincoln school this week, swooping in great glee back and forth in the outer office next to the meeting room.

It was suggested to E. A. Killoren, one of the master electricians conferring with the board, that he be on guard lest the bat get in his hair. Killoren, having scantily covering atop his head, the flying mammal was finally dispatched with a broom.

That apparently the circus fever hangs on a long time after childhood, for as the Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Combined circus unloaded this morning at the North Western railway station, there was a goodly crowd of Appleton persons present to watch—and there were plenty of adults among them.

That office employees at the courthouse were trying a variety of ways to escape the heat with their fans yesterday. In one office the fan was placed facing outside in a window. This, it was explained, forced the warm air outside while the fresh and cooler air were drawn in to the room. In another office the fan was placed on the floor. Cool air always is found at the bottom of the room, it was said, and the fan circulated this air more rapidly.

That Appleton people living on the west side of town were astonished and amused early this morning when a procession of elephants plodded deliberately, with slow and measured tread, from the circus trains up to the circus grounds on Badger avenue. The rumbling of the heavy wagons pulled by tractors and teams of horses disturbed many a last-minute snooze; but it is generally conceded that the sight of seventeen elephants is worth a rude awakening.

July Building in Appleton Gains $5,000 Over 1937

Construction Estimated at $75,000 Authorized Last Month

Appleton residents last month spent an estimated $75,245 for new homes, garages and remodeling work, exceeding the amount spent during the same month last year by about $5,000, according to city hall records.

However, the estimated figure is far below the June estimate when home builders really tried to bring building out of its slump by spending $103,000. June was the first boom month of 1938 and the first month this year which exceeded the same month of 1937.

The figures quoted above are only estimates and do not represent a true picture of building activities which probably exceed the estimated figures by 25 per cent.

Homes started during July accounted for the greater portion of the amount spent during the period. There were 14 new houses started at an estimated cost of $55,400, a total of $6,000 more than July, 1937. During June this year, 20 homes were started and were estimated at $91,650.

Remodel 17 Homes
Seventeen homes were remodeled last month the cost of which was estimated at $4,425 compared to 18 remodeling jobs estimated at $7,675 in July a year ago. Remodeling work in June this year totaled $10,265.

New garages started numbered 12 and were estimated at $2,170. Ten were started during July last year and were estimated at $1,275. Four mercantile permits were granted, cost of which were estimated at $5,250. No miscellaneous permits were granted.

The general trend this year is towards construction of new homes rather than improvement of present dwellings. During most of the 1938 months home building estimates exceeded the amounts estimated for the same months last year but more remodeling work was done in 1937.

During July, the building inspector issued 47 building permits and 10 heating permits and collected $57.

League Proposes Law Change to Permit Local Revocation of Drivers' Licenses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison.—A legal problem which has bothered local enforcement officers in many localities today had won the interest of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities which suggested that a remedial amendment be proposed at the next session of the state legislature in January.

In a message distributed to municipal officials today, Robert J. Cunningham, legal counsel for the League, pointed out that under present state laws local courts are not allowed to revoke drivers' licenses on conviction for drunken driving under a local ordinance.

"Suspension of the driver's license after conviction for this offense is a very effective means of cutting down the number of offenders," Cunningham pointed out.

"Legislation should be enacted authorizing revocations on conviction under local ordinances," he added, pointing out that in many cities at present officers are using a system of starting both an ordinance violation case and a prosecution under the state statutes.

Use Both Laws
On conviction the court imposes a fine as a penalty under the local ordinance and revokes the license under the state statute. "This procedure," according to Cunningham, should be followed in flagrant cases if not in all cases.

The procedure is approved by the attorney general and has the backing of at least one opinion by the state supreme court, the League counsel said.

The League also reminded local municipal governments this week that the University of Wisconsin is offering trained apprentice specialists to localities under its student career plan, authorized by the 1937 legislature, and already in operation in several state government departments.

Designed to train specialists in all fields of government, the program makes available a selected list of top-ranking students in the sciences, liberal arts, and professions who want to make government service their career. They work for relatively low salaries because their apprenticeship period is considered a part of their academic training. In this way, the League explained, local governments may at smaller costs than usual obtain accountants, statisticians, engineers, recreation directors, or general administrative assistants. Handling the program is the state bureau of personnel, through Horace S. Fries.

8 Singles Stars Still in Tourney

Riggs Seeded First in Grass Court Classic at Southampton

Southampton, N. Y. —(AP)— After a day's dalliance in the doubles division, the seven favorites and one outsider who comprise the singles quarter-final round of the 48th annual Meadow club's invitation grass court tournament go into action today.

Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, the outsider, is in tough company. Bobby Riggs, the stalwart Chicagoan, heads the seven seeded players who make up the remainder of the round.

Riggs, seeded first, tops Joe Hunt, ranked No. 5 nationally; Bryan (Bilby) Grant of Atlanta; Frank Kovacs, the Janky Oakland, Calif. boy; Hal Surface of Kansas City, Mo.; Sidney E. Wood of New York and Charles Hare of England, the lone foreigner.

In yesterday's doubles, the newly-formed team of George Toley and Gardner Mulloy ousted the second-seeded Murphy twins, Bill and Chester, of Chicago.

The second form reversal occurred when Martin Buxby and Charles Harris, like the Toley-Mulloy duo, from Miami, Fla., defeated J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., and the veteran Gregory Mangin of New York, 9-7, 6-2.

Though the two seeded teams fell, two other seeded teams came through with little difficulty. Wood and Hunt dropped only one set in two matches and Riggs and Grant won in straight sets. Other victors were Bobby Harman and Kovacs, who beat the strong western team of Mort Ballenger and Verne Hughes of Los Angeles; Frank Gurnsey, Jr., of Orlando, Fla., and Russell Bobbitt of Atlanta; McNeill and Surface, and Ernie Sutter of New Orleans and Gilbert Hunt of Washington, D.C.

Ducky Pond Ahead In Coaches Poll

Ends Midwest Monopoly on Lead; Elmer Layden in 2nd Place

Chicago —(AP)— An Eastern football coach today broke the monopoly of the Big Ten on the leadership of the poll to select a coach for the collegiate All-Stars who will face the Washington Redskins here Aug. 31.

He was Raymond (Ducky) Pond, Yale's head coach. He is 2,808,689 points gave him a lead of more than 60,000 over Notre Dame's Elmer Layden. Close behind Layden were two former coaches, each enjoying comfortable margins over the remainder of the field. They were Harry Kipke, former Michigan coach, and Alvin (Bo) McMillin of Indiana.

A. J. Robertson of Bradley Tech was fifth with 1,540,660 points. He was followed by Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern; Bernie Moore, L. S. U.; Stub Allison, California; Bob Zuppke, Illinois, and Pete Vaughn, had 770,284 points.

Two Former Caddies in Southpaw Golf Finals

Rye, N. Y. —(AP)— Two former caddies, Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., and Alex J. Antonio, of Linden, N. J., fight it out today for the left-handed golf championship of the United States over the rough, tough V. S. Country club course.

Everett runner-up last year at the 36-hole where he bested Antonio in the semi-finals, is the favorite. The 31,000 Watke cup goes to today's winner.

AFTER watching Seymour maul Two Rivers or Two Rivers give away the game to Seymour, and Kaukauna's exhibition last night we're all for Class D baseball, or something. . . . Two games in a row like that is too much. . . . Bruchner expects to go with the majors in spring training next year. . . . But he'll have to learn to throw all over again. . . . No sidwheeler pitcher ever gets by in the big leagues. . . . You never saw Al Bauer use a side arm. . . . Or Billy Dumke, who also comes out of the Eastern Wisconsin league but who has had the benefit of a lot of training down in Texas. . . . Or Leroy Ames of Green Bay who has worked under Red Smith and other Milwaukee Brewer coaches.

After watching King Sears last evening and listening to the squawks from players and fans he's either bad or the players are trying to pass their weaknesses off on the umpire's eyesight. . . . Few State league batters can hit curves and that's where most of the difference in opinion comes. . . . But what about the guys who sit behind the plate. . . . They can't be wrong all the time. . . .

The crowd was the smallest in the Kaw park this season. . . . Buck LeMay went in to hit for Bongers in the ninth and responded with a single to center. . . . He was or was almost (depending on viewpoint) nipped off first and then when he went to second on an infield out he twisted his ankle and had to be carried from the field. . . . Wurdinger got a chance to show again and came through with a single. . . . He did mighty well in that Old Timer-Kimberly game a couple weeks ago. . . . Sven Bowman and Zintz had a pretty fair evening at bat. . . . Bowman got three for five and Zintz two for three. . . . He also had two walks.

Roland Schnell, big hurler for Two Rivers—he weighs about 255 and stands about 6 foot, 6 inches—wore a Rockwood uniform Sunday when he hurled part of the game for Two Rivers against Seymour. And there's a story back of it, too.

When Schnell arrived in the league Two Rivers had no uniform big enough. So he tried on the largest tent in the place and when he fielded bunts it was a momentous occasion for there was every chance in the world Mr. Schnell would pop right through his pants. And some of the ball teams took particular delight in laying one down so that Schnell had to bend over.

Finally, Paul "Butch" Kohls of Manitowoc, a roly-poly chap you've probably noticed in the coaching box, remembered an old uniform he wore with Rockwood in the Manitowoc County league. So he donated it to Schnell and the Two Rivers team and in the interests of modesty and baseball fans generally. And Mr. Schnell now fields bunts with more confidence.

Eleven Packers are holding out for more money. Among them are Lon Evans, Zud Schammel, Don Hutson, Wayland Becker, Clark Hinkle, Eddie Jankowski, Arnie Herber, Bob Monnett and Milt Gantenbein with no word at all from Tiny Engbreton, Goldenberg, Hank Bruder or Ernie Smith. None of the Packers were cut and several of those holding out are expected to come into the fold with no arguing.

That 36-hole match for the Butte des Morts championship Friday between the McKenny brothers, Tommy and Jimmy, should be most interesting. Are they going to have Father Charles McKenny referee? Incidentally, the one who will be the title certainly will have it coming. For Tommy beat Gordon Derber and O. K. Ferry and Jimmy beat Jack Dickinson, Steinko and August Brandt and they aren't setups by any means.

Some 30 or more Lawrence college grads and ex's down around Milwaukee and a few from Appleton gathered at the North Hills Country club the other evening with Bernie Heselton, new Viking coach. Lawrence things generally and football particularly were discussed. Incidentally, Heselton will move to Appleton about the middle of the month and live on N. Durkee street. Lawrence practice starts about Sept. 10.

The shakeup in the Two Rivers baseball team the other day resulted from the 14 to 1 shellacking that Seymour gave the Icebergers. Eddie Raab is out as manager and Irish Wall is through as a player. The fans were thoroughly aroused over the showing of the team and many went home before the game was over. They didn't even wait for the second game. And to say that the showing was pathetic was putting it mildly. There was positively no excuse for having Wall in left field, of all places, when he couldn't throw a ball across this room.

Gordon's Homer In 11th Helps Yanks Win, 10-7

Cleveland Splits With Red Sox; Chi Sox Drop Two Games

DETROIT — With Joe Gordon's eleventh inning homer the spearhead of a three-run rally, the New York Yankees yesterday turned back the Tigers, 10 to 7, and gained a half game on the Cleveland Indians.

The outburst was composed of singles by Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig, an outfield fly that brought in DiMaggio and Gordon's four-bagger.

Charley Ruffing, Yankee starting pitcher, cracked a home run in the sixth with Crosetti on base, Johnny Murphy, who replaced Ruffing, was credited with the victory.

A two-run rally tied the score for the Tigers in the ninth, but Murphy fanned losing pitcher Harry Eisenstat with men on second and third to stop the threat.

Giants Home Run Bats Bring 8 to 3 Victory Over the Chicago Cubs

NEW YORK—(P)—The Giants broke out their home run bats yesterday and walloped the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 3, on a 12 hit attack featured by four round trip clouts.

The victory evened the current series and dropped the Cubs 2½ games behind the second place New Yorkers in the National league race. Bill Lee, who started for the Cubs, gave up five runs in the first three innings. Mel Ott accounted for the first two with his twenty-fourth homer in the first frame. Dick Bartell belted his eighth four-bagger in the second, followed by Gus Mancuso who whacked his second. With Jack Russell pitching, Bob Seeds hit his sixth of the season in the sixth frame with a mate aboard.

BUCS INCREASE LEAD
Boston—The Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday increased their lead over the New York Giants to 5½ games when they whipped the Bees in both ends of a twin bill, taking the first, 9 to 4 and the second, 5 to 3. The Pirates made 18 hits in winning the opener.

In the nightcap, the Bees held a 2 to 1 edge entering the fifth inning, but a three-run Pittsburgh rally took the lead. Two singles, a walk, a passed ball and a double changed the tide of battle. Cy Blanton hurled his eighth straight victory in the first encounter. Todd, with four hits, and Handley, P. Waner and Vaughan, with three apiece, sparked the Pirate assault.

Joe Stripp, making his debut with the Bees, got four hits during the afternoon.

GOODMAN HOMERS THREE TO WIN
Philadelphia—(P)—A three run tenth inning rally that included Goodman's twenty-seventh homer of the season with one on base, gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6 to 3 victory over the Phillies yesterday. The Phils had a 2-0 lead in the third but Cincinnati came back in the eighth to tie the score.

The Reds went ahead 3 to 2 in the first half of the ninth, but the Phils pulled even again when Jordan doubled. Young beat out a bunt, and Martin scored Scheraga, who ran for Jordan, with a fly to right field. Whitey Moore, who entered the game in the eighth, was credited with his third victory of the season against no defeats. Passeau was the losing pitcher.

CARDS NOSE OUT DODGERS
New York—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in a 10-inning thriller under arc-lights last night before a capacity crowd of 35,000.

The visitors broke a 2-2 deadlock in the first extra inning when McGee doubled and went to third when Pitcher Poseedel threw wild trying to get him at second base. Popper Martin was sent in to run for McGee and scored the winning tally on Moore's single.

The Dodgers threatened in their half of the tenth, when Hudson was safe on a scratch hit, with two out. Stainback came through with a single, sending Hudson to third, but the rally died when Stainback was tagged out at second trying to stretch his hit.

A home run by Cuyler in the second inning was a highlight of the game. McGee was the winning hurler, while Poseedel, who relieved Tamulis in the eighth, was charged with the defeat.

Pate Confident of Davis Cup Forces

Says U. S. Will Beat Australia, 4-1. Expects Riggs to Compete

NEW YORK—(P)—Walter Pate, captain of this country's Davis Cup team, can't feel even a little bit of alarm about the challenge round to be played just a month from now at the Germantown Cricket club near Philadelphia. Pate figures the opponent likely will be Australia, and predicts the final count will be United States 4, Australia 1. Also, he is dead certain Gene Mako will continue to partner the peerless Don Budge in the doubles, and that Bobby Riggs will be America's second singles player unless something drastic happens to the young Chicagoan between now and Aug. 24, when the team will be selected.

The team captain, who ordinarily is very sparing in his predictions, was feeling expansive at yesterday's luncheon at which his particular pride and joy, Budge, was presented the James E. Sullivan memorial trophy as the outstanding amateur athlete of 1937. Budge, beaming like a new moon as he walked around with the Sullivan statuette in his arms, revealed he had attempted to visit Baron Gottfried Von Cramm while he was in Germany recently, but was denied permission. His great adversary of the last two years is serving a prison term for a moral offense. "They told me there was a good chance he would be released by Christmas," said Don.

By the AP Feature Service
Six years before the Wright brothers made their famous flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., a French engineer named Clement Ader is reported to have flown about 60 meters on the plateau of Satory in a strange looking contraption with a steam motor which he had devised and built himself. That flight, the French say, took place on Oct. 14, 1897.

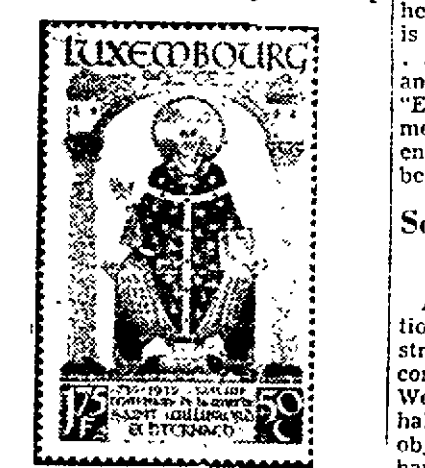

Ader is being hailed as the "father of aviation" on a 50-franc blue stamp which France recently issued. It shows a head of the engineer against the strange batwing of his old craft with its feather-like propellers. He experimented for years, building several heavier-than-air machines before he succeeded in making his brief flight. Ader was a civil engineer in the employ of the government when he became interested in aeronautical ideas. He left his job to experiment, hoping to produce a practical airplane. Meanwhile he supported himself by selling his inventions of various electrical gadgets. His trial flights and plane-building proved costly and when his money was gone he had to give up these experiments, but gradually he saw his ideas shape into reality as the science of aeronautics developed.

When Ader died at Toulouse in 1925, he was 84.

Medieval Saint Honored
Luxemburg's oldest town, Echternach, is proud of its abbey, which was founded as a Benedictine monastery in 698 by an English bishop named Willibrord. It became one of northern Europe's most important abbeys in the Middle Ages. And Willibrord became a saint.

Now he has become a philatelic figure because the Luxemburgers are honoring his 1,200th anniversary of his death (November 7) this year and have issued a set of six unusual and well engraved stamps. The issue appeared in June when Echternach's famous dancing parade was held in St. Willibrord's honor. This strange procession includes great numbers of musicians, players, singers, standard-bearers and priests.

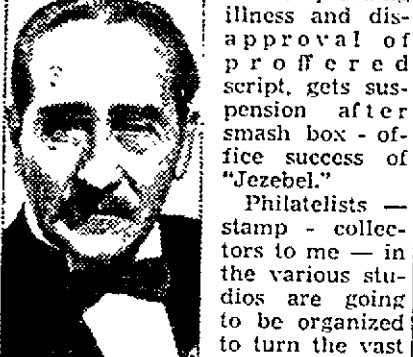

"DIXIE" DAVIS GOES TO COURT

... Committee includes rabid personal collectors Adolphe Menjou, F. Herrick Herrick, the directors, Sherman Lowe, the writer, and Jack Cooper, the publicity man. ... Collectors like Menjou, Shirley Temple, Jane Withers and Noel Madison are to be asked to turn their duplicates into the fund. ... Hoped to realize about $15,000 year from stamps, with fans being urged to help out by posting their letters with fancy ones.

Snappy Ending
Overheard on a "quickie" sound stage: Prop-man (to visitor walking tiptoe on sidelines during rehearsal)—"Don't bother, mister—if a herd of elephants tromped through during recording, it couldn't hurt THIS picture!" Then catching sight of supervisor nearby, adding hastily: "It's that good!"

Rarely: Gene Raymond, the screen's only violently blond leading man (Leslie Howard's just off-broad). ... Saw Pat O'Brien looking very silly in a silken turban and dress suit for "Garden of the Moon," after which I didn't wonder that his pet immediate film interest is a screen-biography of J. P. Murphy, the "stormy petrel of American surgery." ... But maybe there's no connection.

Casting Problem
Columbia—just as if you and I hadn't enough to do—wants help in casting a "Golden Boy" from the Clifford Odets play. ... Character described as "a rugged young man who is both a prize fighter and a violinist with fabled dreams of artistic fame." ... Might be Joel McCrea, or what do you think?

Fernand Gravet, growing a mustache he isn't certain he'll wear in his new picture, was a little upset. ... Had just been told to learn dances, violin and piano—and they'd given him three weeks. Claude Rains ducks away to his Pennsylvania farm every chance he gets—and his best friend there is his neighbor, a Dutch farmer. ... On Rains' last trip he became an American citizen. ... Quote: "Everything good has happened to me in America—This is a lively, energetic country and I'm glad to be part of it."

Improvement Project Up at Board Meeting

At Combined Locks
Combined Locks—The village board Tuesday allowed bills and re-insured the fire truck.

Later the board sat with the school board to discuss securing a federal appropriation of WPA money for a project of civic improvement. This project includes the extension of the water mains, the building of a sidewalk along the highway, and a garage to house road machinery and the cars of the school teachers.

A group of 25 young men attended the meeting to petition the board to build a baseball diamond and football gridiron for the youths of the village. This proposal was accepted, and work will begin soon on the ball grounds which will be located in the north end of town.

There were 24,000 persons currently applying for benefits at the end of July.

Circus Worker's Death Is Called Accidental

Madison—(P)—Officials said today they were satisfied the death of Jimmie Walker, Negro circus laborer here Tuesday night was due to an accident. Detective John R. Arnold and District Attorney Lyall T. Boggs followed the Al G. Barnes-Sellav Floto circus to Fond du Lac yesterday to complete their investigation after Walker's body was found in a pile of hay. Arnold said a circus wagon apparently ran over the man while he was sleeping.

Waupaca County Farmers Find Crops are Excellent

Waupaca — The big news up in central Wisconsin this year is not dramatic news, startling or sensational. It is the small, drab fact that "crops look to be pretty good this year." That same big news, incidentally, is true in nearly all Wisconsin's 71 counties.

Crops — the average of all farm crops — are best in a decade. Hay was of good quality and the crop was heavy. Barns which haven't been filled for years were this year filled by the first cutting. Usually heavy rains in June and July insured plenty of green pasture, which in turn is reflected in the milk pail.

Small grain was badly blown in central Wisconsin as well as elsewhere in the state, but despite that fact the straw is heavy and the yield is exceptional. Oats are threshing out 50 bushels per acre, barley over 30, rye better than average. Corn is somewhat late, held back by cold weather in June and July, but it is making excellent growth now.

Dig Early Potatoes

Early potatoes in Waupaca, Portage and Washburn counties — the central Wisconsin tuber area — are now being dug, with the best fields running from 200 to 300 bushels per acre — a phenomenal yield. C. J. Schrock with 15 acres of Irish cobbler on his farm six miles south of Waupaca, has started digging with yields better than 200 bushels to the acre. Andrew Stanislawski, with 80 acres of cobbler on his farm in the town of Harrison, Waupaca county, boasts to County Agent George Massey that he's "toured ten counties and I've got the best crop of early cobbler ever grown in central Wisconsin."

There's an important item, though, to remember. These "early cobbler" potatoes, which yield cannot be taken as typical of crops given the usual slant-bang care which farmer-grown late potato fields get in Wisconsin.

Schrock, Stanislawski, the Erickson brothers all plant "imported" disease-free seed from northern Wisconsin, their soil is in good condition and the seed bed well prepared, they spray frequently to repulse insect pests.

Schrock's potatoes, grown on light soil, are getting the benefit of humus and plant feed stored by several years of alfalfa. His crop was dusted with bordeaux to resist bugs. He used no commercial fertilizer this year, but the soil benefited from commercial fertilizer and manure applied in previous years.

Early drought years, this season purchased an elaborate spraying outfit to irrigate his potato fields. The water is supplied by a small trout stream running through the farm. But with 4 inches of rain in May, 41 in June and more than 2 inches in July, he had little need for the spray outfit this season.

His is the largest irrigated potato field in the state, however.

Late potatoes today look good — but the story may be different a fortnight hence. Leaf hoppers are appearing and with dry weather they may do considerable damage to the late tuber crop.

Worst element of all is the price situation. Early potatoes are bringing 50 to 60 cents per hundred-weight here, for class No. 1 stuff. There's not much profit in a crop with such a price.

Best item, on the other hand, is the hay, pasture and grain situation. Many dairy cows in central Wisconsin have been literally hungry for years. Dry pastures in summer, marsh hay and small grain rations in the winter — it has been tough. Small town merchants, too, have seen farm buying power go down as the monthly milk checks went largely for food.

For several winters it has been pitiful to see farmers cut off beautiful farm woodlots, hauling cordwood to town to get the needed groceries which could be financed in no other way. That, farmers and townsfolk up in central Wisconsin hope, is a thing of the past.

Consider $50,000 New City Hospital At Clintonville

Council Refers Matter to Committee for Full Investigation

Clintonville — The question of erecting a $50,000 municipal hospital in Clintonville was discussed at the August meeting of the city council Tuesday evening. The matter was brought to the attention of the aldermen by letters from the hospital committee and from the association of commerce. It deemed advisable to build a new hospital at this time, the city will make application for PWA funds. A 45 per cent grant may be received from the federal government.

The present hospital location on Waupaca street was a former residence and is not fireproof and does not comply with present hospital requirements. After discussing the question, it was left in the hands of the public property committee for further deliberation. The committee was asked to report to the council as soon as the necessary investigation has been made.

Plans Temporary Hangar

Byron Lyon of this city was granted a permit to erect a temporary hangar at the Clintonville airport, he being the first local resident to purchase an airplane. Work at the airport, a PWA project, is progressing satisfactorily and it will be completed by fall.

A letter was read from the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, inviting city officials to attend the state convention at Madison on Oct. 14 and 15.

An agreement was accepted by the council between the city and F. J. Long and Otto Hundertmark relative to the city sewers. Mr. Long and Mr. Hundertmark, who own property in the town of Larrabee adjoining First street, agree to pay an annual service charge of $6 for the use of the city sewer system and agree to pay one-half of the cost of installation of sewers along their property.

Ordinance No. 84 was introduced by John Tanty, chairman of the ordinance committee. This is an amendment to Ordinance No. 61, which pertains to the operation of a public utility by a water and light commission. The proposed ordinance modifies the former one to comply with the Wisconsin statutes, whereby the commission is authorized to appoint bonded cashiers and to set the salary of the treasurer of the water and light commission. This body has recently made a change whereby city water, light and power bills may be paid at either of the local banks or at the electric plant instead of to the city treasurer, as has heretofore been done.

New Streets Project

Street improvement work discussed at the council meeting and it was thought advisable to add about two miles of city streets to the four miles to be black-topped by the county road crew. It is expected that work will begin within a few weeks.

A petition from property owners on McKinley avenue requested building of sidewalk, curb and gutter along that thoroughfare. A PWA project for these street improvements here has been approved.

Operators' licenses were granted to Luman Jesse, Ray Pleshek, Ed. Olson, Kenneth D. Lewis and Fred Firehammer. The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Munro and daughter, Betty, of Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, have left for London, Ontario, after visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. S. J. Tilsen, and family. The Munros will return here in about two weeks when they are enroute to their home from the east.

Edgerton and Racine Men are Candidates In First District

Milwaukee — Attorney Stanley W. Slagge of Edgerton and Harvey C. Hansen of Racine announced today their candidacies for the first district congressional seat now held by Representative Thomas H. Amie of Elkhorn, who is seeking the Progressive nomination for the senate.

Slagge, a Progressive, was Edgerton city attorney from 1932 to 1935 and mayor from 1935 to 1938. He was elected to the state assembly in 1928 and in 1930. Hansen, a grocer, will run on the Republican ticket.

Other first district congressional candidates are Stephen Bolles of Janesville, Glenn Birkett of Burlington and Carl Jorjenson of Racine, Republicans; Francis Wendt of Racine, a Progressive, and former Judge Calvin Stewart of Kenosha, a Democrat. William Seymour of Elkhorn, who had announced he would seek Progressive nomination, withdrew yesterday from the race.

The first congressional district comprises Kenosha, Racine, Green, Walworth and Rock counties.

WPA Workers to List County Dairy Records

Three persons are employed on a county dairy record WPA project which has been started at the courthouse, according to R. C. Swanson, county agriculture agent. The workers will bring up to date all dairy records of tested herds in the county and the project will continue about nine months. The project will give the county one of the best dairy record files in the state, Swanson said.

G. K. RYKER DIES

Milwaukee — George K. Ryker, 65, charter member and former president of the Milwaukee Mercantile Exchange, died at his home here yesterday. He had been engaged in the wholesale egg business here for 30 years and was secretary of the mercantile exchange when he retired from business Jan. 1.

Prof. Bush Is Not First To Stumble Into Ether

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Out of Los Angeles, that promissory land which produced the plans of Upton Sinclair and Dr. Townsend, there comes at last a proposal combining the kernels, as it were, of both these panaceas but without their faults. It is the invention of Professor Oscar Bush, world-wide congressman, who asks a mandate from the citizens of the 14th California district as their representative in a lesser body, the congress of the United States.

Professor Oscar Bush was elected world-wide congressman at the world-wide congress held at the regular meeting place of that body at 648 South Broadway, Los Angeles, in June, 1937. A pioneer, as he admits, in new age thinking, the professor celebrates his birthday, and one day, while reclining in a church house, awaiting his turn to hose down the congregation with a flow of wisdom, he discovered afloat in the springs of his intellect a method of causing money to be and of distributing the same without taxation or other inconvenience. He has communicated his plan to President Roosevelt, and though he may be overwrought, he perceives presidential favor, if not endorsement, in the fact that within three days Mr. Marvin McIntyre, the president's No. 3 man, thanked him for his courtesy in submitting his suggestions.

Unlike Mr. Roosevelt's own Ponzi plan, Professor Oscar Bush's system entails no bothersome problems of interest, principal or ultimate come-uppance. It is a miracle.

"He is now as minded," Professor Bush says of himself, using the third person the better to extol a genius of his own discovery and avoid immodest seeming, "He has made a life study of truth, money and economics. He receives messages from the ether and is a medium through which these messages are transcribed to humanity."

"About a year ago his latest message about created money came while sitting in a small church waiting to be called as the speaker of the evening. He gave them a talk on created money, a thing canceled, hence the slogan "free money." Free money is created just the same as God created man, beast and all other things.

Within the space of five minutes Professor Oscar Bush thought of this, but it will be seen at a glance that he has eliminated the fatal fault in the plan of the good mahatma Sinclair, who made toil a condition for the success of his idea and wrecked his wagon on the detestable truth that toil makes people tired, thus losing the governorship to Mr. Merriam, the champion bridge dedicator of the golden west. He has conquered also the cruel discrimination against orphans, the flaw which aroused the humane instincts of a sentimental nation and condemned the Townsend plan. Orphans have ever been objects of pity in this land, and when it became apparent that persons below the age of 60 without living parents to whom they could look for support would be excluded from the benefits of $200 a month public opinion crushed the doctor's fallacy. Removes Any Harsh Inequality On Orphans

Professor Bush's 5-minute plan plainly substitutes created money for toil and removes the harsh inequality which Dr. Townsend imposed on orphans. When one book of coupons has been exhausted the government will issue another, and so on, honoring the coupons with money voted by congress in the form of dividends upon the national wealth.

"Would it be possible to distribute these coupon books by Christmas?" the professor asked Mr. Roosevelt in his letter of explanation. "This would be easy if you will answer the big question with the little word 'Yes.'"

It were unkind to advise Professor Oscar Bush that he is not the first explorer to stumble, blinded by the glare of golden streets and spires into the El Dorado of the

Reid Murray in Congress Race

Runs on Republican Ticket as Candidate in Seventh District

Waupaca—Reid Murray, Waupaca, mentioned as a congressional possibility during each campaign for the last 20 years, has announced himself this year as a candidate on the Republican ticket for congressman from the Seventh Wisconsin district. He will be opposed for the Republican nomination by Herman H. Behn, Waupaca, and Arthur W. Prehn, Wausau, Progressive incumbent, also seeks reelection.

Mr. Murray's slogan for the campaign he is about to make is "a cow man for congress." A college graduate, a former professor in the state university, and a leader in agricultural groups his entire lifetime, Mr. Murray has resigned all these positions to operate his own farm and to become one of the successful and best known livestock dealers in Wisconsin. He has made his home in the village of Ogdensburg and the city of Waupaca for the last 12 years.

Born on a Waupaca county farm exactly 50 years ago, Mr. Murray graduated from the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin in 1916. Before he completed his university course he was employed at the University of Wisconsin.

Safety Council Issues Booklet on Accidents

The National Safety Council has published a booklet, "Accident Facts," which is now available. The booklet contains 26 pages of charts, reference tables and appropriate textual comment on accidents. Statistics are given for all kinds of accidents, including occupational, motor vehicle, home, public, steam railway, aviation and school. City and state records for 1936 and 1937 are shown, also types of accidents and age groupings, accident rates in industry, year-to-year changes and other details. Due to lack of funds for free distribution, the council is making a small charge for the booklet.

State Will Probe Troubles of Fur Breeding Industry

Study Will Deal With Problems of Disease, Nutrition

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — With the aid of a special $10,000 allocation by the state emergency board, state and university officials prepared today to begin a study of the troubles of the important commercial fur breeding industry in Wisconsin, with particular attention to the problems of disease and nutrition of fur-bearing animals on Wisconsin ranches.

The project is the outcome of a cooperative preliminary study by the state conservation department and the University of Wisconsin at the instance of the organized fur-breeding industry in the state. The preliminary survey indicated the need for a thorough-going examination of the serious difficulties now encountered by the state fur breeders, representing today an industry far greater in income than the fur trading business which was the first commercial enterprise in the state in pioneer days.

Heading this study will be Walter Wisnicky, for the last eight years director of livestock sanitation for the state department of agriculture and markets. Wisnicky has been appointed professor of veterinary science at the state university. State is Leader

The study is especially important to the fur industry generally because of Wisconsin's leading position in pelt production, and official predictions that conditions are favorable in the state for an even greater expansion.

Cash income from the sale of mink and silver fox pelts, alone, for example, today is larger than the receipts from the sale of a number of Wisconsin's staple agricultural commodities, such as tobacco, apples or cherries.

University specialists have already determined that the quality of commercially raised fur is directly affected by the nutrition of the animal, while diseases have invaded many Wisconsin farms in recent years ruining valuable stock.

Two Candidates
For Congress File
Election Papers

Gloudemans and Cashman
Officially Entered in September Primary

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—That the eighth congressional district race this fall will be a four sided affair became apparent this week with the filing of nomination papers by congressional aspirants in the district at the office of the secretary of state.

First congressional candidate to file from the eighth district is Peter J. Gloudemans, Little Chute, who is the standard-bearer in that section of the new Union party.

Following Gloudemans by a day was State Senator John E. Cashman, Democratic candidate for the second successive time. Cashman lives in Denmark.

Papers of three other candidates,

Congressman George J. Schneider, Progressive of Appleton, who is campaigning for reelection, Joshua
L. Johns of Algoma and Fred L.
Geise of Appleton, candidates for the Republican nomination, will be filed before the end of the week, it is expected. Deadline is next Tuesday.

Both Gloudemans and Cashman turned in more signatures than are required by law, 2 per cent of the vote for governor in the district at the last preceding election. Cashman needed about 500, and he filed 1,880. Congressman Schneider will need 1,069, the Republicans will have to get 716, while Candidate Gloudemans, who was required to have 81, supplied the secretary of state with 100 names of his Union party colleagues, principally in Outagamie, Manitowoc, Brown and Marinette counties.

Cashman furnished signatures from every county in the district, but the bulk of them came from Democratic party workers in the northern counties, particularly in Marinette, Forest and Florence counties, normally Progressive, and sparsely settled.

There were also numerous signatures from Brown and Manitowoc counties, but the third important county in the district, Outagamie, supplied relatively few, considering its large number of electors.

Among the Union party workers who circulated the papers of Gloudemans were Antone A. Hietpas of Little Chute, John Williamsen of Appleton, Everett LaFond, Union party leader for the state, and a resident of Manitowoc, Nora Moore.
Marinette, William J. Murphy of Oconto, and Ralph H. Robertson of West De Pere.

Deeds Office Receipts
Total $706 During July

Receipts at the office of A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds, amounted to $706.35 during July, it was reported today. The total is a drop of about $75 from last July when receipts totaled $780.75.

CHICAGO YOUTH DROWNS
Merrimac, Wis.—(AP)—John Sullivan, 17, of Chicago, here for a week's vacation, drowned in Lake Wisconsin late yesterday. He was pushing a boat and it was believed he stepped into a deep hole.

Wrong to Teach Child to Depend Upon Its Mother

BY ANGELO PATRI
A child just beginning to get about the world on his own legs is so active that he can tire his mother completely in a short time if she tries to keep up with him. No mother should attempt this. It is impossible. But many young mothers do and find themselves telling the doctor, "I am nervously exhausted by that child."
The child will get along much better if left to himself for most of the time. But the mother must start that training early. If she attends the baby constantly, he will learn to expect that attention and be lost without it. When he gets to the runabout stage nobody can keep up to him and the trouble is on in earnest.
Teach the little child to stay by himself in his own place for a certain time everyday. Give him something to look at, to handle, something interesting that will occupy his mind if not his hands. As he grows older lengthen the time and make the occupation more demanding, and quite as interesting as his first rattle.
If this training is followed to the time of the getting about age, the little one will not expect someone at hand to play with him, to answer endless meaningless remarks, fetch and carry for him. He will not cry if his mother goes out of his sight, knowing, by experience that she will return again. And best of all, he will learn to be self-reliant and self-helpful.
The intelligence of a child is developed by what he does for himself, not by what others do for him. He gathers physical power by using his muscles for definite purposes, and he gathers spiritual power by overcoming difficulties, controlling his impulses, instincts and appetites by the power of his own will. Even a four-year-old child develops such powers to his own good if he is permitted to help himself.
The young mother who finds herself tied to a child of three or four years old can know that her hard lot is of her own making. She must now begin to re-train her child, never an easy matter. But in self-defense, most mothers try to do it. Begin just as one would begin

Real Skill In Figuring Out This One

Some of the battles waged between an expert declarer and equally expert defenders are worth the attention of war correspondents. In the hand shown below the defense was particularly splendid. Watching it, I was struck by the thought that East and West had borrowed Verdun's immortal slogan, "They shall not pass!"

The bidding:
South 1 no trump Pass
West Pass
North 3 no trump Pass
East Pass

Since North had two honor tricks divided among three suits and a total of five honor cards, his double raise was correct.

West made his proper opening lead the heart jack. Declarer won with the king. (It would have done no good to concede the first trick. West would lead another low heart, thus leaving a heart in East's hand for communication purposes.)

Declarer could count only eight top tricks. The ninth might be established in either diamonds or spades, but one thing was vital: to keep East out of the lead and thus present a heart return through the remaining Q 7. The obvious solution was to attempt to pass a diamond (declarer had eight diamonds and only seven spades) into West's hand. As the best means to that end, declarer led a low club to the queen and returned the three of diamonds, intending to put in the nine spot if East played low. But East was not in accommodating humor. One thing he knew: if declarer had the A J of diamonds the queen wasn't worth a hoot. But East had been up against thousands of situations in which declarer's proper plan was to pass a trick into the dangerous hand, and this looked like just such a case. West's opening lead, in connection with declarer's winning with the king, might well be from a holding of A J 10, and that would require a lead-through by East.

With nothing to lose and possibly something to gain, East shrewdly jumped up with his diamond queen on the lead from dummy. Declarer was forced to win (or face a heart return), and at this point West rose nobly to his partner's example. He played the diamond jack on declarer's ace! If he hadn't another diamond lead would have settled the defenders' hash. West would have been politely presented with the jack on the next lead and East would have been unable to save him.

The alert unblock put declarer back where he had started. He sensed that a third diamond lead would be fatal, giving East the lead, and hence attempted the same maneuver in the spade suit that he had tried in diamonds. But the defenders had tasted blood and were not to be denied. Exactly the same sequence of plays took place: on a low spade lead from dummy East put in the queen, forcing declarer to win, and West savily cooperated by getting rid of his unwanted jack.

The declarer had snarled in vain. He simply couldn't throw the lead where he wanted it, and the final result, a one trick defeat of the contract, was a glorious victory for the defenders.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

With a baby. Put the child in a quiet place, in a corner of the room where his mother is working, and let him amuse himself with some interesting game, or occupation, for at least ten minutes, fifteen is better. Each week, if at all possible, increase the length of time he stays by himself, and increase the distance between him and his mother. By the time he is in training for three months he should be able to stay in a room by himself for half an hour at least. By the time he is five he should be able to play by himself, with an occasional hint from his mother, if necessary, for the whole morning.

Teaching a child to depend altogether on his mother's presence and attention is no kindness to the child. Such a mother is creating a burden for herself that soon becomes too heavy to bear. Nobody can keep up with an active runabout infant.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Men loathe the careless grooming. In fact I think that men are inclined to be more fastidious about us than we are about ourselves! That statement will probably bring an avalanche of mail contradicting me. Well anyway, men do like us sweet-smelling, tidy in our dress and noticeably groomed.

It isn't too easy to keep fresh as a flower, or crisp looking as a lettuce leaf, during hot days. It takes special little rituals. We must bathe more frequently and more thoroughly. We must think to apply a deodorant powder or liquid under our arms, on our feet and across our backs (if there is where you perspire). Light floral scented colognes help to keep us cool and the alcohol which they contain plays a part in personal daintiness. But more than that we have to be ever so careful about wearing fresh underthings and hose each day. If you haven't an abundant supply you must form the habit of rinsing yours out each night.

Other Little Details
This season sheer dresses and blouses are the vogue. You and I know that sheer materials are a nuisance for they do not permit the slightest carelessness! Our straps must never be pinned! If we wear more than one strap they must look as one through our blouse. A slip that is the least bit mussed will look untidy, and any slip should not show through the side closing of your dress! Nor should a slip show beneath the hem of your dress. The only way to shorten a too long slip is to hem it over—never, never knot the strap.

A Few More Don'ts
Cut out toes in shoes are most comfortable and serve as much needed ventilators for the feet; but they are hard on stockings! When you wash your hose be sure to scrub the toes well for how shocking to see a soiled toe peeping out from your shoes!

Speaking about shoes—they must be aired frequently. It is a good idea to shake in the shoe a little deodorant powder once a week and leave it in over night. Before wearing brush it out. That helps to keep your feet fresh.

Here's to more careful grooming!

Falling Heroes

A dog was the first parachute jumper. He didn't know it was going to happen before he went down the first time, but he did it and did it well.

The event took place in France on an August day in 1785 — only three years after the invention of the balloon. Jean Blanchard was the owner of the dog, and he had made a parachute in the form of an open umbrella. A basket was fastened to the under parts of the umbrella.

After rising in a balloon in the presence of a large crowd, he placed the dog in the basket and let it drop. Slowly the parachute settled to the ground, and the dog was none the worse for wear.

The crowd was so well pleased that Blanchard let the dog fall again and again. Each time it came safely to the ground.

An old record states that Blanchard, himself, dropped on a parachute eight years later, but fell so fast that he broke his leg. The first successful descent by parachute seems to have been made by another Frenchman, Jacques Garnerin. In 1793 he went up more than 2,300 feet above a part in Paris. Then he loosened his parachute and fell slowly to the ground. While he was going down, his balloon kept going up, and went so high that it burst.

A few years later Garnerin made another famous descent in a parachute. Thousands of English folk watched him rise about a mile and a half in the air. He stood in a basket two feet wide and four feet high.

A dome-shaped umbrella, 23 feet wide and made of heavy canvas, was fastened to the basket. The umbrella had a small hole in the center, and was attached to the balloon net by a hoop.

Garnerin was able to break the connection between the parachute and the balloon, but what thoughts he must have had as he looked down a mile and a half. No doubt if he trembled as he took leave of the balloon and started toward the earth. Down, down he fell, holding fast to the swaying basket. At last he reached the ground. His basket struck the ground with force, and fell over, but except for a few small cuts the brave airman was not hurt.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

BRIDE
Dear Mrs. Post: I have a cousin who is middle-aged, although young looking, and being married for the first time. She wants to wear white and a wedding veil, and have all her little nieces and nephews in the wedding procession. Altogether there are six nieces and nephews, between the ages of four and ten. Isn't such an arrangement not only out of ordinary, but also in bad taste?

Answer: No, it is quite all right that the spinster wear white and a bridal veil. A lace veil would, however, be more appropriate than a tulle one. Also let me suggest that she choose cream color instead of the usual pure white, which is very trying to any but a young skin. Having all her nieces and nephews in the wedding procession could not possibly be criticized by any one since every one knows what great joy it is to children to take part in a wedding.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary that the groom's mother wear a long afternoon dress when she knows beforehand that this is what the bride's mother is wearing? In other words, will she look out of place in a short skirt?

Answer: Although a long dress does, in the opinion of most people, look better, it is really not necessary that the groom's mother buy a long dress for the occasion down a mile and a half. No doubt if she can't afford it. In other

Some People are Happier When They're Miserable

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Dorothy Dix—Do you know of any way that I can wake my mother up and make her see what a lovely world this is and how good it is to live? She has no real cause for her melancholy, for, while she doesn't have everything she wants, she has a comfortable living, a good husband and children who love her and want to make her happy, but she still finds life tasteless and is always saying she would be better off dead. I am always telling her of her blessings and how much she has to enjoy, but she takes them so much for granted that they are of little value to her. And the strange thing about her is that she seems content with her condition. She makes no attempt for happiness. I am thrilled to my finger tips with living and planning what I am going to do, and it hurts me to get so much from life and mother so little.

MARY BELLE.

Answer:
"Those who would bring back the wealth of Ophir must take the wealth of Ophir with them," says the old proverb. We get out of life just exactly what we put into it, nothing more. You get happiness because you bring a brave heart and a high spirit and a determination to make the best of circumstances to this business of living, and these are the open sesame to happiness. You go to Ophir with a smile and you come back with laughter bubbling over your lips.

Your mother gets nothing but unhappiness out of life because she deliberately shuts out all the sunshine and lives in a world of gloom. She refuses to enjoy any of the pleasures she could have. She minimizes the good and exaggerates the unpleasantness of her lot. She wallows in melancholy and her bread is sorrow and her drink is tears, and because she hunts for trouble she always finds it. She takes dust and ashes of Ophir and her mouth is dry with them when she comes back.

Happiness comes from within ourselves, and it is more a matter of self-determination than anything else. We must will to be happy if we want to be happy. We must have the courage to fight for happiness and the gift to take it and hold it when it comes our way. We must be strong enough not to let ourselves be overwhelmed and discouraged by the trials and disappointments of life. We must cultivate a philosophy that will be a shield and buckler against the slings and arrows of Fate if we want to be happy.

Most people think that whether or not we are happy is a matter of luck, but it is not. It is a matter of choice since, in reality, our outward circumstances have little to do with it. It is not what life brings us that makes us happy, but our attitude toward life. Some of the happiest people I have ever known have been the poorest and many of the richest have been the most miserable.

Youth, health, wealth, high position, all of these should make for happiness, but they do not if they are united to a dissatisfied, fault-finding, sour temper that finds nothing good in all God's world. Poverty, sickness, anxiety, care seem excuse enough for unhappiness, but how often we see a blithe spirit nullify all of these handicaps. For laughter can turn a dinner of herbs into a feast. Youth will see more smiling faces in fifties than you will in limousines, and many a crippled newsboy gets so much fun out of life that he is a regular cheer leader.

So there you are, my dear. You are filled with the joy of living. You get pleasure out of everything, the song of a bird, the unfolding of a flower, a cheap new dress, an evening at the movies, a good dinner. You like to work. You like meeting people. You like games. Everything brings you a thrill of interest and pleasure. And you are sorry for your mother because life is so dull and drear and drab for her.

But don't worry over her. You are wasting your sympathy over her. She is having the time of her life being miserable. She enjoys whining and complaining, and she wouldn't cheer up if she could. So let her alone and let her divert herself in her own dark blue, pessimistic way. Just thank God you didn't inherit her disposition and go on your own joyous way. If the melancholy didn't enjoy melancholy they would snap out of it.

words, her clothes would not be so conspicuously inappropriate even though they do not match those of the bride's mother. But if she can afford it, a long dress is usually prettier, as well as more suitable. The Organist at a Wedding Writes
Dear Mrs. Post: A young woman in our church has asked me to play at her wedding. I am the organist of the church and know her family well, but only because of our church affiliations. They have invited me to the reception afterwards at the house, and this invitation is the reason why I am writing to you. Ordinarily I would not have thought of sending a present, but now I don't know whether one will be expected of me or not. They are of course paying me my usual fee for such services.

Answer: No, it would not be necessary to send a present. It is never necessary excepting when the bride or groom is a member of one's family or when one is under very real obligation of friendship to one family or the other.

The Bride's Father at a Military Wedding
Dear Mrs. Post: At a military wedding where the groom and his attendants are wearing uniforms, what does the bride's father wear since he is in no way connected with the army and therefore can not wear clothes to match theirs?

Answer: At a wedding in the daytime, the bride's father wears a cutaway coat. In the evening he wears "tails." It is never necessary that the clothes of the bride's father match those of the groom and his attendants.

Old Gardener Says:

There are several insects to watch out for at this season. One is the red spider on evergreens. It is almost invisible but causes the foliage to turn brown and rusty looking. A strong stream of water from the hose applied several times a week is helpful. Sulphur dusted onto the foliage is a commonly accepted remedy. It is best used with a dusting gun. The red spider is most active when the weather is hot and may do much harm before it is detected. That is a good reason for spraying small evergreens on general principles.

My Neighbor Says—

Coleuses may be easily grown from cuttings. It is only necessary to insert these cuttings in light soil in pots or even in a corner of the garden, keeping them fairly moist. They will make plants large enough to handle by the time cold weather comes. Even small plants can be cut back and taken into the house in Fall, but new plants are better.

When measuring sirups or molasses, dip cup in hot water and mixture will not stick to the sides of the cup.

Leaning Spire of Salisbury Church Will be Supported

Salisbury, Eng. — The leaning spire of Salisbury Cathedral, 404 feet high and the tallest in England, is to be strengthened with a stainless steel band. Since a gale cracked it in 1930, there has been the danger always present that the spire, which is 22 inches out of perpendicular, might crash down.

The 6,000-ton weight of the spire is to be redistributed directly on the pillars beneath the corners of the tower, the spiral staircases in the four corners of the tower are to be blocked up and a stainless steel band placed around the base of the spire. The work will require 18 months.

The effect will be to draw the weight proportionately down the center of the tower to the main piers below and to remove the dangerous outward thrust.

But, according to engineers, even after the alterations have been completed, if the river level drops and the great foundations of the building dry up, the cathedral will collapse.

When the cathedral originally was designed, built and consecrated, the later ceremony taking place in 1238, there was no spire. There was a small lantern tower in the center of the church, which rose above the ridge of the nave roof and, the four piers on which it stood provided ample support.

In 1330, the tower was carried up, and the spire was completed in 1355, reaching up 404 feet. This additional burden crushed the four piers and the spire itself inclines 22 inches to the southwest.

The spire has caused considerable worry for six centuries, and now the dean and chapter have decided the work of strengthening the tower and spire shall be undertaken at once.

Kaukauna Valley Leaguers to Play Grand Chute Nine

Kaws Must Win Final Game To Have Chance for Second Half Title

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna nine of the Fox River Valley league will play its last and most important game of the second half here Sunday afternoon against Grand Chute. The Kaws are one game behind Menasha in the race for the second half title and must win to have a chance if Menasha loses. Menasha travels to Appleton where the Kaws hope they will be knocked off.

Attended at valley league games here has been increasing each game and the largest crowd of the season is expected for tomorrow's contest. Kaukauna is now in top form after a shaky first half. They have challenged the Menow Braves of the Northern State league to a city championship game here after the season closes.

Pitcher Eddie Schuler will have his eye on his sixth victory in seven starts when he toes the rubber to begin Sunday's game. His only loss was a close game to the Menasha Falcons, when misuses by his mates let the winners run score. No team has yet hit in double figures off Eddie, and he rarely allows more than half a dozen errors. Big Junior Meters will be on hand as usual to receive Schuler's slants.

Crack Outfield
The Kaws claim their outfield is the best in the league and probably aren't far from right. Ves Kappell, who led the Northern league team in batting the first half, Gib Busse, hitting almost .500, and Joe Gossens, who has played with Kimbberly in the Northern league, make up this outfield trio.

Ray Dieckrich is on first base, and also will take a turn at relief pitching in the unlikely event Schuler needs help. Bill Rohan at second, Carl Schuler at short and Joey Gertz at third round out the infield.

Entry Forms Now are Available for Lions Club Golf Tournament

Kaukauna — Entry blanks for the first annual Lions club golf tournament were made available to golfers yesterday at several places in the city. They may be secured at Look's Drug store, Royal clothing store, Tasty lunch restaurant or at the golf course.

The tournament is open to all Kaukauna golfers, and the qualifying round must be played by next Wednesday evening. The winner will be given a silver loving cup, donated by the Lions club and presented immediately after the final match on September 11.

Kaukauna's Assessed Value Gains $100,000

Kaukauna — A gain in the assessed valuation of Kaukauna property of about $100,000 was reported as the board of review concluded its sessions. New buildings and improvements were responsible for the gain, made despite a loss of $300,000 valuation on the Outagamie Paper company mill when the city bought it, and despite other industrial losses of about $150,000. Kaukauna's total assessed valuation is now slightly over $8,870,000.

Athletics, North C. Y. O. To Play for Last Place

Kaukauna — The cellar position in the City league will be at stake tonight when the fifth and sixth place teams, the Athletics and north side C. Y. O., clash on the library grounds. The C. Y. O. squad, without a victory yet this year, has two games left in which to count, and is confident of at least one win. The Athletics must come out on top to have a mathematical chance for the second half title.

Two Elks Officers are Convention Delegates

Kaukauna — M. A. Rought, exalted ruler, and Leo H. Schmalz, secretary, have been chosen delegates of Kaukauna Elks to the thirty-sixth annual state convention at La Crosse August 25 and 27. Alternates are Fry F. Posen, J. P. Ditter and Dan Henningsen.

Postpone Concert by Kaukauna School Band

Kaukauna — Postponement of the band concert, slated tonight at LaFollette park, was announced this morning by Director Clarence Kriesa. Many of the players are out of the city. The band will hold a rehearsal Monday morning at the high school in preparation for the concert, now to be given at the Kaukauna Garden club on the following Saturday.

Rennicke to Attend Scout Board Meeting

Kaukauna — Edward F. Rennicke, Kaukauna district chairman of the Boy Scouts, will attend a meeting of the executive board of the valley council tomorrow this month at Gardner. Due to the time to be announced later Rennicke is also a member of the organization and extension committee of the valley council.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Club Will Sponsor Visits to Four More Kaukauna Gardens

Kaukauna — Another Garden club tour will get under way tonight at 6:15 as members and all other adults interested in flowers and gardening leave the public library to visit four more gardens. Attendance at the tours has increased from a small number three weeks ago to about 50 last time. Cars will be furnished for transportation by club members. Anyone wishing to take advantage of the transportation offer or wishes to have his garden inspected may telephone William Hass, president of the club.

Relief Expenses Decline in July

$1,649 Outlay for Month Is $249 Lower Than June Figure

Kaukauna — A decrease of $249.08 in relief expenses for July from June was reported yesterday by Joseph V. Krahn, relief director. Expenses for June were $1,925.76, and for July $1,649.68.

July expenses were divided as follows: groceries, $905; meat, $62.50; milk, $95; board and care, $279; rent, $311; clothing, $34; fuel, $30; medical care, $157; drugs, $20; dental care, $3; ear and eye treatments, $25; office expense, $23.

The largest number of WPA workers ever to be employed here is now at work, 146. Ten women are on WPA, 12 boys on NYA and 9 girls on NYA.

There are now 91 persons on city relief, an increase of one over the number on the July 1 rolls. Seventeen new cases were opened in July and sixteen were closed. The city takes care of 21 reimbursed county charges, making a total of 112.

Social Items

Kaukauna — Women of the Moose, with the men invited, held a picnic yesterday afternoon at LaFollette park. Games were played and a covered dish supper served. The committee in charge was headed by Emma Agen, assisted by Christena Hoffman and Anita Kasell.

The Christian Mothers society of Holy Cross church met last night at the church auditorium. A business and social meeting was held.

Odd Fellows will meet at 7:30 tonight at their hall on Second street. Installation of officers will be held.

The Woman's Aid society of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church met yesterday afternoon at the school hall. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Beebe, Mrs. John Blumreich, Mrs. Otto Becker and Mrs. Clayton Blumreich.

The Woman's Benefit association held a covered dish picnic yesterday afternoon at LaFollette park. Mrs. Woodrow Heilman was chairman of the social committee in charge.

2,000 Visit Grignon House This Season

Kaukauna — About 2,000 visitors have gone through the historic Grignon home so far this year with 100 coming there last weekend. The custodian has asked that visitors try to come as early in the day as possible, as large groups seem to appear about 3 o'clock and the resulting congestion makes it hard to handle them. A camp stove is being built on the Grignon grounds for the use of picnicking groups. It will be finished this week, and wood for it furnished.

Welfare Council Seeks Old Chairs for Needy

An appeal to Appleton residents for old chairs for the needy was made today by Mrs. H. J. Drosely, who is in charge of the storeroom of the Appleton Relief and Welfare council in the old post office building. There have been numerous requests for this type of furniture. Mrs. Drosely said. Donated chairs need not be in first class condition as needed repairs will be made before they are given to needy families.

REAL CELESTIAL FIREWORKS
Several like this struck in Rochester, N. Y., area during severe electrical storm that did some $10,000 damage.

Build Stone, Brick Camp Stoves at Riverside Park

Kaukauna — With the construction of six stone and brick camp stoves at Riverside park the recreation ground now is equipped to handle all summer picnics and outings. Park employees built the stoves with stone taken from the WPA Outagamie mill project, where workers are dismantling part of the wall.

The bottoms of the stoves are made of stone, with brick chimneys about two and a half feet high. Plates are on top of the stoves for the convenience of campers. Three stoves have been built at the east end of the park, and the other three at the north end below the hill, a short distance from the river.

A large supply of wood is available near each stove, gathered by the park employees. Dead limbs which have fallen or been cut from trees are used. The new additions replace several old stoves, and will make the park a popular rendezvous for picnic and other gatherings. People from Green Bay, Appleton, Seymour and other places, as well as Kaukauna, often use the grounds. Drinking water is supplied from the Kaukauna artesian wells.

Church Group Planning For 25th Anniversary

Black Creek — There will be no Sunday school at St. John Evangelical church Sunday. A German service will be held at 9 o'clock and an English service at 10 o'clock. "False Prophets" will be the sermon topic. The Evangelical League will not hold a meeting this week. The decorating committee of the church met Tuesday evening to consider details of the church decorating and to make plans for the twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of the church which will be held Aug. 21. Three services are planned for that day.

"Wolves in Sheep Clothing" will be the sermon topic at the English service Sunday at 9:30 at Immanuel Lutheran church, Sunday school 10:30.

There will be a low mass at St. Mary Catholic church at 8 o'clock Sunday and a high mass at 10 o'clock at the St. Denis Catholic church at Shiocton.

There will be no services Sunday at St. John Evangelical church, town of Graceland. A mission service will be held in the afternoon and evening, Aug. 14.

Ten women attended the home economics meeting Tuesday afternoon at the village hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kach and Mr.

and Mrs. Julius Sassenman returned Monday from a week's visit at Valparaiso, Ind., Jackson and Chelsea, Mich. They returned home by way of St. Ignace, Mich.

Rural Recreation School Will Be Held by County

Outagamie county is one of eight in the eastern sections of the state to be invited to send delegates to a rural recreation leadership training course in Winnebago county in September. The course will be conducted by John Bradford, rural director of the National Recreation association in cooperation with the federal department of agriculture and the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

A meeting of persons representing the various rural organizations in the county will be held at 1:30 next Tuesday afternoon to decide whether the county will take advantage of the invitation. Delegates will be named if the county is to participate.

HEILIG BACK FROM WEST

Herb Heilig, director of the Appleton Vocational school returned this week from Fort Collins, Colo., where he taught during a 6-week summer term at Colorado State college.

Love on the Range

missed the first time, but he would not have missed again. "Would it have made so much difference to you?"

"Of course," she broke into his question hurriedly. "I told you a woman will go through fire for the man she loves." Her arms went about him hungrily; there was a sob in her pleading voice. "Tell me that you see some good in me; that I'm not all bad. Tell me that you love me just a little."

At that moment Ankrom's eyes were drawn toward the door. He went cold. Lee Trone stood in the opening, her lips parted in a smile. "Yes, tell her, Abe, by all means. Don't let me spoil your fun."

She was gone before Ankrom found his voice.

Ankrom removed the girls' arms. Not even the twist of her parted lips or the stricken look in her eyes held the power to move him.

He clapped his hat upon his head and strode toward the door. The girl from Peco Pinto caught him, whirled him round.

"Wait!" she cried. "You can't go like that! Is there nothing you can say to me? No sincerest ray of—"

There he stopped her with his eyes. "I'm afraid not," he said, and his voice was bleak.

"You're hard!" She reached out to put her hand again upon his shoulder, but his eyes warned her and she dropped the hand impotently to her side. "There . . . there is information I could give you if only you'd treat me a little kinder."

"I don't," Ankrom told her flatly. "buy information in that manner."

He turned to depart but she clutched him desperately. "Wait—I'll tell you anyway!"

"Well?"

"This feud to Trone's—you've been trying to see the purpose back of it." She swallowed uneasily, wet her lips.

"Yes. Do you know?" Ankrom asked.

"I'm afraid," her voice was thick.

"Afraid?" Ankrom stared. "What are you afraid of?"

"This whole thing."

Ankrom scowled, half turned to leave. "Let it go, then." A mirthless grin flashed across his lips. "I'll be findin' out directly, anyway."

"You'll not find it out in time. Wait, I'll tell you. There are plans afoot to lay tracks across this ranch."

"Tracks? What are you talking about?"

"A railroad—from Amarillo to El Paso!"

"A what!" Ankrom swore and saw the girl's face go deathly white. She took a faltering, backward step and one hand came up before her face as though to fend off a blow.

Ankrom spun and saw behind him a heavy rocklike form. There could be no mistaking that great hunched figure—it belonged to big Tom Ratchford.

"A Pair Of Love Birds"

Ankrom drawled. "Howdy, sheriff. You ought to go in for sleuthing."

A knowing grin bulged Ratch-ford's beefy face. His eyes passed from man to girl and the grin grew wider. "Say! I'm sure some sorry to come bustin' in on a pair of love birds this way. Streeter. I'll smother over to the house an' wait till you get through."

"You needn't bother." A flush stained Ankrom's cheeks. "You've jumped to false conclusions. We were just having a little talk."

"Oh, sure. Just havin' a little talk. No harm in that. When a gent is talkin' to a lady, though, he can do without an audience. I'll go over to the house. Come over when you're through."

"I'm through now. What did you want? Did you come out to the ranch to see me?"

"Well, yeah, I did. Wanted to put you next to somethin', but it'll keep a spell."

"Won't have to," Ankrom said. "Go ahead, spill it."

"Well," Ratchford led him off through the bunkhouse door. "I think I've got a line on the fella whate's after Ol' Man Trone. The fella's name is Claydell."

"The rancher?" Ankrom laughed. "You must be drinkin' a poor brand of whisky!"

Ratchford's glance grew dark. "This is cold turkey, Claydell's the one who's out to smash the Rafter T."

"What for? What's he to gain from a stunt like that?"

"There's a railroad going to cross this ranch."

"Railroad! Where'd you get that crazy notion?"

"For Friday and Saturday"

"What for? What's he to gain from a stunt like that?"

"There's a railroad going to cross this ranch."

"It ain't crazy—leastways, Claydell doesn't think it is. He's figurin' strong on that road goin' through here. Anyhow, that's why he's after this spread."

"How'd you get wise?"

Ratchford's lips curled in a slow grin. "I've got my ear to the ground. I hear a lot of things a fella would not think. The other day, for instance, an ancient history fell in to my hands."

"Yeah?"

"Yeah—you ought to see it."

Ankrom's cold look swept the sheriff's mocking features. "Anything personal in that remark?"

Ratchford assumed surprise. "How could there be?"

"Missed hell! I know what I'm talkin' about. It'll be worth a couple hundred grand for that road to lay track through here!"
